President Is Returning To White House

Completes Fishing Trip In Gulf And Docks At Galveston This Morning

SEVERAL PROBLEMS FACING ROOSEVELT

Supreme Court Reorganization And Budget Economy Await Action At Washington

By GEORGE DURNO
International News Service Staff Correspondent

GALVESTON, Tex., May 11.—Eleven days of fishing in the Gulf of Mexico behind him, President Roosevelt docked at Galveston this morning and turned eastward to Washington and a renewal of his tug-of-war with congress on the twin propositions of supreme court reorganization and budget economy.

The White House yacht Potomac, with her destroyer convoys Moffett and Decatur, eased to an anchorage at Galveston and waited a rousing reception for the president from the Oleander City.

Large Turnout

All Galveston was turning out while Mr. Roosevelt paraded through the city to his special train, stopping enroute to thank Texas for the fine fishing he had been accorded. A local mayorality election going to the polls today assured a big turn-out.

A third problem concerned the executive as he started back to the national capital. That was constantly rising prices in the stock market. Before he swung south for his spring fishing vacation, Mr. Roosevelt made four successive moves to hammer prices down. Friends report he has been advised

PA NEWC OBSERVES

Dear Pa Newc:—

Spring has come again, the smiling faces of the wild flowers rich with sweet perfumes have appeared. The boughs of trees are aglow with life, that is sending forth leaves, that change the woods to a canopy of green. The scented twigs of the spice bush are holding shy little blooms. Bloodroot, Quaker bonnets and wake robbins, beauties all, and with a lavish hand Nature spreads all over the country side golden discs of the dandelion. Birds, song sparrows, thrushes and finches sing of life's joys, Bob-o-links winging horizontally over the meadows growing grasses to sing happy songs, and Bluebirds ease their labor of rearing young with songs of love. And so the season's great miracle is wrought.

Madrid Again Center Of Big Artillery Duel

(International News Service)

MADRID, May 11.—Hundreds of shells crashed with a deafening roar into the center of battle-scarred Madrid today as loyalist and rebel artillery staged a five-hour duel.

Heavy casualties, including many civilians, were reported. The duel began at 5 a. m. and lasted until 10, when loyalist airplanes finally silenced the enemy guns.

The exchange of heavy fire coincided with a new rebel offensive, launched in the Casa De Campo sector.

Government forces virtually surrounded Toledo today after a battle for possession of the rebel stronghold that lasted throughout the night, according to government officials.

Loyalist troops advanced at several points west of Morata De Tajuna on the Jarama front, it was stated.

According to the newspaper Mundo Obrero, 80 of 500 refugees at the Peruvian consulate were arrested on charges of espionage.

The paper alleged a search of the consulate revealed a radio transmitter and "compromising documents".

This morning shortly after nine o'clock the 54th annual convention of the Woman's Home Missionary society, Grove City district of the Erie conference, was under way in the First M. E. church of New Castle. The bright skies encouraged a very representative crowd to make the New Castle trip, and the gathering promises to be an unusually satisfactory one.

Funeral Tonight For Crash Victims

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, May 11.—Funeral services will be held here tonight for 23 of the 35 persons who lost their lives in the explosion which destroyed the dirigible Hindenburg, and the inquiry at Lakehurst, N. J., to determine probable cause of the disaster stood adjourned until tomorrow to permit officials and witnesses to attend the rites.

The services will be conducted at 6 p. m. at the pier of the North German Lloyd-Hamburg-American Line. A Roman Catholic priest and two protestant clergymen will officiate. The bodies will be returned to Germany aboard the Hamburg-American Liner Hamburg, scheduled to sail Wednesday midnight.

Brief eulogies will be delivered by Dr. Hans Luther, German ambassador to the United States; Commander Charles E. Rosendahl, commander of the Lakehurst naval air station, and Dr. Hans Borchers, German consul general in New York.

Meanwhile, 26 survivors of the tragic blast, patients in New York and New Jersey hospitals, were reported showing marked improvement in their conditions.

Wednesday Again Suburban Day

Another month has gone by, and another Suburban Day is announced by the merchants of New Castle who cooperate each month in this sale, which has become an institution.

The May Suburban Day is set for Wednesday, May 12, the same day that King George the Sixth puts his hat on. The crowds at the Suburban Day sale are not expected to equal those of the coronation but there will be this difference, at the coronation you just get a look at royalty for a smacking stiff price. At the Suburban Day sale you get a lot of values for your dollar.

With the spring weather getting to the point where whites and pastels are the colors in clothes, when the back porch needs painted, and the garden could use a few seeds, Suburban Day is especially important.

In the stores cooperating in the Suburban Day sale will be found everything that you can use in a house or in the yard. The only thing necessary is to come down town on Wednesday and pick it out for a price much reduced from the price of Tuesday or Thursday.

Wednesday, May 12, is the day. Remember it is not for the coronation entirely but for Suburban Day in New Castle.

Rumor Three Justices May Leave Bench

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 11.—Retirement of three justices of the supreme court before the beginning of the new term next October is being persistently rumored in Washington as the senate battles laboriously over the Roosevelt reorganization plan.

These rumors are impossible of confirmation, for the justices habitually keep their own counsel. But they recur with such frequency and persistency as to lead some senators to believe there may be something to them. Under the Sumners-McCarran retirement act, which was enacted after President Roosevelt proposed to enlarge the court to fifteen members, all justices over 70 may retire with full pay ($20,000 a year).

The justices who figure in these rumors are Justice Louis D. Brandeis, 80; Justice Willis Van DeVanter, 78; and Justice George Sutherland, 75.

Move In Effort To Avert Strike

Department Of Labor Seeks To Avert Threatened Steel Tieup

CALL CONFERENCE AT CLEVELAND, O.

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, May 11.—The federal government today again stepped into a major labor dispute, hoping to avert a disastrous strike which threatens to involve a fourth of the nation's steel production.

James F. Dewey, chief conciliator for the Labor Department, now in Pittsburgh, was directed to do everything possible to amicably settle the dispute between the steel workers organizing committee and independent steel producers. The latter have refused to follow the lead of U. S. Steel and sign contracts with the SWOC.

Calls Meeting

In line with his instructions, Dewey issued a call for a conference between all parties concerned in Cleveland this afternoon at two p. m. There, with representatives of both sides before him, Dewey will seek to persuade them to postpone the strike now scheduled for 11 p. m. Wednesday night.

Officials here said they were keeping in touch with Dewey by telephone, but had little of importance to report. They said Dewey was "handling the situation", and that he was using his own judgment in efforts to prevent a strike.

The conferences called in Cleveland today by Dewey will be followed by others tomorrow in Pittsburgh, and perhaps additional meetings of union heads and operators in Youngstown.

Union executives here said that negotiations were in the hands of Philip Murray, chairman of SWOC, and that they had no developments to report from this end.

London Ready For Coronation Day Ceremony

Most Colorful Pageant Of All Time To Take Place On Wednesday

WEATHER SHOWS SOME IMPROVEMENT

Preliminary Ceremony For Coronation Program Is Already Under Way

By DAVID P. SENTNER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, May 11.—The eyes of an impatient world turned toward London today as the time approached for the most colorful pageant of modern times—the coronation of George the Sixth and Elizabeth as king and queen of England.

The brief rule of Edward VIII, who abdicated to marry the woman he loved and passed the mantle of royalty to his younger brother, was recalled for a fleeting instant by King George, in acknowledging the loyal addresses by representatives of the British dominions and commonwealths at Buckingham Palace.

Threshold Of New Life

"Today I stand on the threshold of a new life," he said. "Heavy are the responsibilities suddenly and unexpectedly come upon me, but it gives me courage to know that I can count on your unfailing help and affection.

"For my part, I shall do my utmost to carry on my father's work for the welfare of the great empire."

No mention was made of the abdicated king by name, for by tacit agreement with his government King George is pledged to bridge the gap between his father's death and his own accession and remove from the public mind so far as possible all memories of the young monarch who renounced his throne.

MANY LOYALISTS KILLED IN BATTLE

Report Loyalist Losses Of 2,000 Men In Attack On Insurgent Stronghold

(International News Service)

SALAMANCA, Spain, May 11.—Government forces "lost" more than 2,000 men in an attack on the Insurgent stronghold of Toledo, an insurgent communique stated today.

The loyalist offensive was halted, the communique stated.

Basque claims that 1,000 Insurgents had been killed on the Biscay front and Mount Sollube recaptured by loyalist troops were hotly denied.

On the contrary, said the rebel announcement, Nationalist troops "brilliantly advanced in the Sollube seotor" and the Basques abandoned 200 dead. The rebels said 147 Basque prisoners had been captured.

I read the books and think that it would be a heap of fun to see them all but there is work to do, its eighty one.

SENATORS BALK ON PROGRAM

Governor Faces Some Opposition

Some "Mandate" Legislation May Not Get By State Senate This Session

EARLE WILLING TO COMPROMISE

By FREDERICK N. POLANGIN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, May 11.—Confronted with an apparently irreconcilable senate Democratic majority, Gov. George H. Earle today dumped the responsibility of enacting the remainder of his "mandate" program on the lap of the 132nd legislature.

Although the overwhelmingly Democratic-controlled house of representatives has remained tractable, with indications it will continue so, senate Democrats served notice on the chief executive early this morning that it will not accept many phases of the proposed "must" legislation.

Governor To Compromise

And, it was learned on reliable authority, the governor has indicated his willingness to compromise, although he has remained adamant in his demands that "fundamental principles" be untouched.

The chief executive called the 33 Democratic senators into his office yesterday afternoon in an effort to force an agreement on several items that either have been scuttled or amended drastically.

The senate Democrats, it was learned, agreed to report out of committee the remaining proposals and leave their fate to the roll calls to come.

But, despite this, the senate mines and mining committee, again voted to pigeon-hole the controversial anthracite mine code, one of the proposals specifically asked by the governor to be brought to the floor of the upper chamber.

So he entered the waiting room and asked if he could be of any service.

"No, thank you," replied the visitor, blandly. "I'll just drop in because, you see, I'm reading a serial in one of your papers."

Presidential Salute.

Galveston, Tex., May 11.—A 21-gun salute from a Fort Crockett battery marked the end of President Roosevelt's 11-day fishing cruise in the gulf as he stepped ashore here from the U. S. S. Potomac shortly after 9 o'clock this morning.

Governor James V. Allred, Mayor Adrian Levy and other Texas notables were at the dock to greet the heavily tanned chief executive and conduct him over a cheering parade route through city streets now ablaze with thousands of blooming oleander.

At Kopperl Park, the president paused to say a few words of appreciation for the fine hospitality extended him by Texas.

The presidential party boarded their special train at 10 a. m. C. S. T. A stop was scheduled this afternoon at College Station where Mr. Roosevelt will disentrain and review the cadet corps of Texas A. & M. college.

He will spend tonight and tomorrow at the Forth Worth home of his son Elliott before starting the swing back to Washington where arrival is scheduled for Friday afternoon.

LONDON READY FOR CORONATION DAY CEREMONY

Late afternoon found the weather clearing after a day that started with a cloudburst and continued sodden and depressing as a steady drizzle fell.

At 5 p. m. more than 100 persons were already lined up outside Westminster annex, prepared to spend the night in the open to be sure of good places tomorrow. Hundreds of others took up their places along the procession route, prepared to withstand whatever weather the night might bring.

And as the weather improved, London's streets once more became choked with vehicles and pedestrians, throwing traffic into chaos.

Thousand Parade.

While the cheering, joyous thousands paraded through the city, King George VI, who will be formally crowned with Queen Elizabeth tomorrow, received the loyal addresses from representatives of the British dominions and commonwealths at Buckingham palace.

In replying to these addresses, affirming the loyalty of the units of Britain's far-flung empire to George's rule, the monarch replied:

"Today I stand on the threshold of a new life. Heavy are the responsibilities suddenly and unexpectedly come upon me, but it gives me courage to know that I can count on your unfailing help and affection.

"For my part I shall do my utmost to carry on my father's work for the welfare of the great empire."

Historic Ceremony.

This historic ceremony was another traditional step in the ancient coronation ritual, and while the king spoke of his hopes for the future, his youngest brother, the Duke of Kent, accompanied by the Duchess, led 3,000 people in queen's hall in a day-long service of intercession for their majesties.

In solemn tones, the Duke of Kent said:

"I hope the same God who guided our beloved father and mother will guide and protect their majesties and I hope some of us will gather again in years to come to celebrate their happy silver jubilee."

Many persons in the vast congregation were touched profoundly as the duke called their attention to the fact his mother, Queen Mother Mary, will participate in the Westminster Abbey service tomorrow. He said:

"She will have deep personal memories of the crowning of my father."

Cheer Queen Mary.

The public wildly cheered Queen Mary on her arrival at Buckingham palace to attend a luncheon given by King George and Queen Elizabeth for dominion premiers and leading representatives of India and the empire.

The band of the Welsh Guards played during the meal, lavishly served on palace plate. The Duke and Duchess of Gloucester were among those present.

Fears traffic would be hopelessly snarled by a general transportation strike tomorrow were lessened with reports street car, bus and taxi employes had agreed to delay any further strike action until the coronation is over.

The drizzle began again after a short let-up at 4 a. m. By 5:30 a. m. (and at this unearthly hour crowds of celebrating visitors were jamming the streets) the rain beat down as if dropped from giant buckets, and this continued without interruption for hours.

Continued, that is, save for intervals when there were miniature cloudbursts that sent torrents sweeping through the streets.

Sodden decorations at first merely looked bedraggled. But after a while they looked fantastic. The white flags and bunting turned a dull greyish color, while the red and blue decorations began to merge their hues in weird designs.

Decorations Sorry Sight.

At several points the decorations—which had looked so fresh only a few days ago—threatened to collapse altogether under the weight of cascading water and pressure of the wind.

Flowers massed in window boxes on London's picturesque balconies were flattened, and the paper decorative schemes were sadly bedraggled. Guilded imitation crowns and royal cyphers were tarnished and knocked awry.

The absence of busses owing to the strike coupled with scare reports that street car, trolley and subway workers may stage a lightning walkout on coronation eve as a gesture of support to the striking busmen added to the feeling of damp gloom in the breasts of London's plodding, umbrella-toting, mackintoshed thousands.

It was a sorry prelude to tomorrow's celebrations and ceremonies revolving about the traditional coronation service—a pageant so colorful and steeped in Britain's unmatched sense of historic continuity that thousands upon thousands have come to witness it from all corners of the earth.

No Better Forecast.

The gloom was not lifted by inability of the weather bureau to promise better weather for tomorrow. The latest forecast was that coronation day would be dull and showery, probably accompanied by thunder, with the barometer steadily falling.

Yet, despite the gloom, the swirling rain and sepulcharal intonations from the weather man, thousands of hardy souls already were braving a 36-hour wait to see the show—the coronation procession—tomorrow.

Huddled in doorways, alleyways—anywhere that offered shelter from the driving rain—even beneath the stands they should have been sitting on along the processional route, they waited at vantage points, hopeful of catching a glimpse of King George VI and Queen Elizabeth behind ranked guardsmen, police and Red Cross workers.

In view of the foul weather, London's kind-hearted police ignored orders to keep the early birds moving.

Procession Wil' Move Tomorrow

And, amid the deluge, there always was one heartening thought; that tomorrow, whatever the weather, the full royal procession will occur. This knowledge, more than anything else, helped lighten the depressing outlook of a raw, damp London day.

The park camps for troops were turned quagmires, with the effect on the full dress uniforms of the soldiers that one would imagine. Nevertheless, full dress rehearsals were scheduled to "carry on" thruout the day.

During the morning, their majesties were to receive the loyal addresses from the dominion premiers and the Indian and commonwealth representatives at Buckingham palace. Afterwards they will entertain the commonwealth representatives at lunch.

Thereafter the king and queen will delegate the remainder of their official duties for today to the Duke and Duchess of Gloucester to enable them to rest in preparation for tomorrow's tiring ceremony.

Meanwhile the full list of royal guests showed the Duke of Windsor and the Duke of Connaught will be the only members of the royal family absent from the crowning in Westminster Abbey. The aged Duke of Connaught, recovering from an illness, will view the coronation porcessional from his residence on the Mall.

ferson and East streets. (The meters possibly may be extended west to Beaver street).

The mayor also id he is considering the installation of meters in Liberty street, Seventh ward.

The meter system will not be in operation after 6 p. m. excepting on Saturday nights up 9 o'clock. Neither will the meter system be in operation on Sundays or holidays.

After the system is installed it will cost an autoist five cents to park for a period to be designated. If the autoist parks overtime and the meter (clock-like arrangement) shows this fact, an inspecting officer will present the autoist with a tag which will be equivalent to a summons to police court or payment of a fine at the city police station.

REILLY JURY IS BEING SELECTED

had been subpoenaed by the commonwealth to testify against him. Attorney General Charles J. Margiotti, the special prosecutor, declined to reveal the nature of her testimony other than that it will support the commonwealth claim Reilly instigated and directed the fatal questioning of Monaghan.

It was known that Margiotti claims to have obtained several statements from Reilly, both before and after he began his personal investigation of Monaghan's death.

Assistant District Attorney George F. P. Langfitt of Allegheny county will open the commonwealth's case and will not exclude death as a possible penalty in his address to the jury. Tomorrow, when it is expected the jury will be completed, the jurors will be taken to Uniontown to view the Bertillon room where the commonwealth alleges Monaghan was fatally tortured.

COLORED BOY FATALLY SHOT

"armed" with a cap pistol which was found by the police. Suddenly a shot sounded. Vincent Sands, South Mercer street and Vincent San Esposito, East Home street, other students, who were in the vicinity looked and saw the Harris boy fall to the ground.

San Esposito ran after Naples but could not catch him. The Sands boy ran to the Pollock school, informed the teachers of the shooting and a call was sent to the police station.

Detectives Chief assigned Traffic Officer John Haven and Patrolman Robert Hanna to take the boy to the New Castle hospital which they did. Showalter with Detective John Young went in search of Naples.

They arrived at his home and found the door locked. They broke in the door and found the young lad hiding beneath a bed. At first he denied the shooting but later confessed, according to Showalter.

Naples, the gun, he was alleged to have used and the cap pistol which Harris had were taken to the police station.

Showalter and Young found the weapon in the dresser drawer, the Naples boy having placed it there after fleeing from the scene of the shooting.

Several boys who were in close proximity to the fatal shooting were taken to the police station where their statements were secured by Showalter.

Coroner Orville Potter was notified and started an investigation.

WOMAN'S CLUB HEARS INSPIRATIONAL TALK

Dr. Weir Ketler, president of Grove City college, addressed members of the Woman's club when they met on Monday afternoon in Highland U. P. church.

The Seminar Group, original study group of the Woman's club, was in charge of the day's program, Mrs. E. F. G. Harper introducing the speaker.

Dr. Ketler's talk was of an inspirational nature, was forcibly presented, and was a model of conciseness. In developing his subject, "Three Mottoes For The New Day", he outlined the progress of civilization from the time of the fall of the Roman Empire.

"There has always been a conflict between the constructive and the destructive forces of society. These forces send the line of progress upward or downward. Over the centuries, the line has gradually moved upward. This gives us hope for the future. However, it is a challanging future. Civilization moves upward only when people so deserve."

For his first motto he chose that of Lord John Fisher, "Let Them All Come," which shows preparedness, alertness and courage. His second was the motto of New College, Oxford, "Manners Maketh the Man," which he interprets as patriotism, courage, willingness to sacrifice, and a sportsmanlike point of view.

For his last, he chose the motto of Edward Bok, "Go out to meet the world with courage and make of it a better and more beautiful place."

"If you follow these precepts," said Dr. Ketler, "the line of civilization will move upward in our time."

Mrs. Harry L. Gormley presided over the business session which was marked by the election of new members. Hostesses for the day were Mrs. S. W. Perry and Mrs. O. P. Brown.

Students Recital

Piano students of Mrs. David Duff Scott, assisted by Delbert Fletcher, will give a recital Tuesday, May 18, at 8 in the evening, in the east lodge room of the Cathedral.

ATTORNEY MERCER AT READING CIRCLE

Mrs. Charles Greer was hostess Monday afternoon to members of The Reading Circle at her home on North Jefferson street.

The program was presented by Attorney Roy A. Mercer, who gave an interesting and instructive talk on the subject, "Public Records, Their Care and Use." Late current topics with which members responded to roll call added to the informative afternoon.

On May 24, Mrs. W. E. Ferver will entertain The Reading Circle and guests at a tea in her home on the Wilmington road.

INTERESTING THEME FOR '91 PROGRAM

"Building for the Future" was the general theme for the program heard by Circle of '91 members on Monday afternoon, in the home of Mrs. J. B. Love, on Leasure avenue.

Mrs. L. G. Nail spoke on three phases: Safeguarding the Mothers of the Race; Pre-School Fascists; Education on the Aristotelian Principle. A discussion of the topic, "Mussolini's Glorification of the Family as an Institution," was led by Mrs. R. B. Davenport, assisted by Mrs. W. J. Marshall and Mrs. Harvey Robinson.

Roll call was answered by 21 members, and at the business session, Mrs. J. M. Blackwood was elected first vice president. As Circle of '91 will be one of the hostess groups for the general meeting of the federation on May 18, in Highland U. P. church, plans for this event were under discussion. Mrs. Thomas Lindsay served as critic for the afternoon.

May 24 the next meeting will take place in the home of Mrs. J. A. Butler, Fairfield avenue.

T. O. T. Club Meeting

Miss Coletta Priesel, of Etna street, will entertain T. O. T. club members in her home on Wednesday night.

The guests of honor were Mrs. Eva Sherry of this city, J. A. Carrigan of Follansbee, W. Va., John E. Carrigan and daughter Margaret Anne of Follansbee, W. Va. Other guests with these who spent the week-end at the Carrigan home were Mrs. John E. Carrigan of Follansbee and Mrs. F. F. Sullivan of Youngstown.

Covers were laid for nine at a large table brightened with yellow and white covers and a centerpiece of spring flowers.

PRACTICE AND FORUM ATTRACTS HADASSAHS

Tonight the executive board of New Castle chapter Hadassah will meet at the home of Mrs. S. Edelstein, Norwood avenue, to hear the slate presented by the chairman of the nominating committee, Mrs. R. Rubenson.

Groden, educational chairman, and Mrs. Leonard Reinhart, music chairman, have all been working hard to make this unique function a real success. Irvin Grossman has consented to act as master of ceremonies.

Rehearsal of the children participating has been changed from Wednesday night of this week, to Thursday night at 7 o'clock. It will be held in the home of Mrs. J. Silverman, Wallace avenue, in order that members of Hadassah may attend the open forum scheduled for Wednesday evening at Tifereth Israel synagogue.

Hadassah has been taking keen interest in these forums and welcomes the coming of Rabbi S. Glasner, of Temple Israel, Uniontown, Pa., who will address the Jewish community on the subject, "New Paths for American Jewry."

Rotary Honors Ladies Hears Douglas Malloch

With Douglas Malloch, entertaining Chicago poet, philosopher and author, as their guest speaker, members of the New Castle Rotary club last night honored the ladies of Rotary at a brilliant dinner party in the main dining room of The Castleton.

Close to 100 persons enjoyed the turkey dinner and the speaking program which followed it. It was one of the club's most impressive social affairs.

The hotel dining room, beautifully adorned with flower-covered tables, proved a distinguished setting for the party. There was a speakers' table for the honored guest, Mr. Malloch, who was seated with Mrs. Malloch, President Ray S. Tannehill and Mrs. Tannehill, Secretary Carl E. Paisley and Mrs. Paisley, and Dr. John J. McIlvaine, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, who pronounced the invocation before dinner.

The program was presided over by President Tannehill.

After a few announcements, Mr. Malloch, famed for his philosophical comments on various subjects and known in newspaper circles as a past president of the Chicago Press club, was introduced.

It was the depression that Mr. Malloch chose to discuss before his local audience, and he did so with characteristic vigor. He spoke of lessons the "dark days" of not many years ago should have taught us. All the way through he interspersed his remarks with stories.

Before dinner was served the club members and their wives assembled outside the hotel to permit a motion picture camerman to grind out pictures of the group.

During the dinner hour music was furnished by Harry Hammond and his orchestra ensemble.

In charge of the party's arrangements was Rotary's social committee headed by Albert B. Street. Serving with him were Richard E. Rentz, J. L. Matthews, Dr. Paul Wilson and Dr. Charles Miller, the latter president of Slippery Rock State Teachers' College, who has been a member of the club for months.

K. OF C. HOME IS SCENE OF PARTY

Gorgeous fragrant purple lilacs, the first of the season, adorned long tables in the K. of C. Home Monday evening for the annual Mothers' Day dinner-program sponsored by Catholic Daughters of America.

Colors of the organization, purple and gold, were further carried out in decorations with dainty favors at the places tied with gold ribbons. Covers were laid for thirty guests.

The invocation was asked by Grand Regent Mrs. Frances Coloa, after which the very delicious menu was served and a short program presented.

As toastmistress, Mrs. Evelyn Woods called upon all of the mothers for impromptu remarks, and Mrs. Coloa paid them a beautiful tribute in a talk she made. Mrs. Ida Suber followed with other very lovely thoughts, and Catherine Smith read a poem entitled, "Mother."

Concluding these features, Mrs. Woods responded to the Mothers, present and future (several unmarried members being in the group.)

A business session was featured by an election of new officers: Grand Regent, Mrs. Frances Coloa; vice regent, Mrs. Marie Metz; financial secretary, Cordelia Edgington; treasurer, Ethel Donegan; prophetress, Charlotte Biondi; lecturer, Mrs. Ida Suber; historian, Jean Norris; monitor, Mrs. Evelyn Woods; sentinel, Mrs. Anna Seger.

Three trustees are: Mrs. Anna Mulcahy, Mrs. Anna DeJane, Mrs. Martha Sullivan; organist, Florence Marianna; assistant organist, Mrs. Mary Maher; banner bearer, Mrs. Mary Brown; guides, Mrs. Elizabeth Semler, Catherine Augustine.

Plans were furthered for a party which will be held on May 24, in St. Mary's auditorium.

Much credit for last night's very delightful event was heard for the committee working tirelessly for its success. These members were: Mrs. Evelyn Woods, general chairman; Mesdames Frances Coloa, Marie Metz, Sarah Wirtz, Catherine Gallagher, Martha Sullivan, Mary Brown, Ida Suber, Mary Geddis, Bernadine Ryan and Miss Jean Norris.

Catholic Daughters of America will be represented at the state convention in Reading May 24, by Mrs. Frances Coloa.

ILL-FATED ZEPPELINS—TRANS-ATLANTIC SERVICE

APPALLING loss of life in the latest zeppelin disaster, the explosion of the Hindenburg, may sound the death knell of this form of air transportation. Abandoned by the United States Navy after three air catastrophes, the zeppelin in late years has been promoted chiefly by Germany's Dr. Hugo Eckener, who designed the Hindenburg but was not permitted to command her for some reason.

Plans for transatlantic heavier-than-air service appear to be still in the formative stage. Colonel Lindbergh has made several surveys in Ireland for a base for such service, but it is believed in aeronautical circles that the risk would be as great as that entailed in the Hindenburg venture.

The history of sausage aircraft has been particularly unfortunate. Introduced during the world war, when they were used for killing women and children behind the battle lines and made several raids on London, this form of aircraft has taken a horrible toll of life in the years that have elapsed since then. The fate of the Macon and the Shenandoah, of the U. S. Navy, are still fresh in memory.

ONLY ONE CHOICE FOR AMERICA

Without a direct reference to the epochal struggle now going on over the preservation of the Supreme Court's independence, Chief Justice Hughes, in his address to the American Law Institute, made an unanswerable argument in behalf of the high judiciary.

"The success of democratic institutions," he said, "lies in the success of the processes of reason as opposed to the tyranny of force. Between these society must choose. If society chooses the processes of reason, it must maintain the institutions which embody those processes."

More than any other American institution, the Supreme Court embodies the processes of reason as opposed to the tyranny of force. In the American system, under which the nation has grown to power and greatness, the Supreme Court is the ultimate guardian of individuals and of groups from governmental despotism and from injustice from whatever source. Any attempt to restrict the freedom of the court, to impugn its motives or to cast doubt upon its integrity, is a blow at the people and at their liberties as safeguarded by the court.

The administration's proposal to increase the Supreme Court rather than amend the constitution to insure its legislative ends suggests a tyranny of force rather than a process of reason. If American democracy is to survive in a world beset by social and economic ills, the nation must protect its Supreme Court from the hands of the destroyers.

NATION'S DEBT TOPS $35,000,000,000

With the national debt crossing $35,000,000,000 for another all-time high, there is new cause for less talk and more action on economy in Washington. It is a disturbing fact that the debt, like the yearly deficits, has a way of exceeding prior estimates. In his budget message last January President Roosevelt calculated that the debt on June 30 would stand at about $35,026,000,000. But on May 5, with eight weeks still to come in this fiscal year, the debt was $35,039,956,000.

Nor is this all. It is notable that the increase of $52,000,000 from the previous day resulted chiefly from the treasury's borrowing program of $50,000,000 weekly. At this rate it would appear that the debt on June 30 would be considerably higher than even latest estimates.

This continually mounting burden of indebtedness, weighing upon every citizen, is the most serious problem facing the country. It is probably the most potent factor in recovery delays, in unemployment and in relief. It breeds inflation perils and affects the prices of all commodities used by the army of consumers.

It is no comfort to know that $35,000,000,000 represents a debt of $271 charged against every man, woman and child in the country; nor that this gigantic sum would build 700 Empire State buildings, 1166 ships as large as the Queen Mary or a flotilla of 280,000 clipper flying boats. The point is that it won't buy or build anything because it is debt, deficit, red ink, a monumental loss that, somehow, has to be made up in the years to come.

In the shadow of this $35,000,000,000 obstacle to prosperity congress should exert its utmost efforts to reduce federal expenditures.

NEW POSSIBILITIES AFTER CORONATION

That British coronation strikes most Americans as an amusing and unusual social function, or as a medieval drama trying to portray royalty as it was in its days of ancient glory and power. Yet it is a good show. And in one respect, at least, it may stir secret enthusiasm in many a masculine bosom.

We refer to the gorgeous uniforms in which the males of the species, including various Americans invited to the party, are preparing to strut their parts. Not for a century, if ever, has there been such masculine regalia as will gladden the eyes of beholders at that British inauguration. It will outdo even the secret society parades in which we Americans are wont to console ourselves for the loss of gay plumage in real life.

Consider, merely as one item in the universal rainbow splurge, the suit created for the unusually somber General Pershing. It is said to be his own design; and with the aid of an imaginative tailor, here is what he will wear in that royal parade:

"A blue full-dress coat of knee-length, with gold-embroidered oak leaves around the collar and cuffs. A hat covered with gold braid and ostrich feathers. Full-length trousers with two gold stripes down each leg mounted on velvet. A wide buff sash around the shoulders and waist. A saber hanging from a belt of gold-embroidered oak leaves." And that is just one tiny item in the universal welter of beauty.

This precedent will give men everywhere new courage. It is a rule of nature that gorgeous displays is the prerogative of the male rather than the female, but women have long turned this rule topsy-turvy and strutted in borrowed plumage. The thing has gone too far. There are already signs of rebellion. The masculine slaves of dull dress may yet assert their inalienable rights and put women sartorially where they belong.

The Parent Problem

GIRL DENOUNCES SPANKING

A HIGH SCHOOL GIRL writes from Madison, Wis.:

"Dear Dr. Myers: I once heard you speak in Madison at East High school, and enjoyed it and thought you were wonderful. I had been reading your articles occasionally, and since that time have read all of them. I have enjoyed most of them.

"But every little while you write an article about spanking little ones. It seems impossible to connect you with such advice. Children do not ask to come here—poor little helpless things. It is cruel to whip children. A man with your influence in this country should not be allowed to give such advice. Well do you know what tempers people have, and how ignorant they are in following such advice. In one article you say you beat your own children, and in the next you say how they care for you. One of the statements is false—I suspect the first one, because on the East Side high school stage you certainly did not look to me like a man who beat his children.

"I have been intending to write you for a long while, but was stirred into immediate action when I read in the newspaper this noon about the little boy in the reform school in Tennessee who was given 105 lashes for a small infraction of a rule. . . . I hope never again to see in your column one single word about spanking helpless little ones."

Girl's Motive Good

And that was some spanking I got; but I like the motives which prompted this young woman to write as she did. My reply in part was:

I am glad you have observed that I advocate spanking young children only. Concerning the whipping of the Tennessee child you refer to, I am incensed quite as much as you are.

You refer to me as "beating" my children. Now, now, Jean, you are a little severe. Of my children now 23, 21, 14, one can recall no spanking, and each of the others can recall but one. All of them were spanked occasionally before the age of five, but always in accordance with a plan the mother and I had agreed on beforehand. The purpose was to teach them the meaning of NO, for safety, regard for the rights of others, and respect for authority. It would be easy for you to ascertain that the relations between them and us has been very happy, indeed. Having early learned basic restraints, they escaped nagging and many other annoyances, and the way was cleared for all of us to have good times together.

I cannot accept your advice, Jean. I shall go on advising parents to use selective spanking, carefully planned ahead. I believe such advice will tremendously reduce whippings and will further mental health, human happiness and good citizenship.

I .... I I

Since I had the flu—or it had me—I don't boast as proudly of never getting a cold (what's a cold compared with that!)

Before I see any other country I'd rather see all of this . . . And if I never get around to it, I'm due for a regretful old age.

I've never walked out on a poor show yet . . . It isn't a desire to see what I've paid for that keeps me in my seat. It's curiosity.

I'd save a lot of time if I would "organize" my life more efficiently. . . . But what would I do with the time?

A telegram still sends my blood pressure up a few points.

I know a man whose boast is that he NEVER gives a tip . . . I'm not so sure it's anything to boast about.

I've won a few arguments, but never with a child . . . Children are not interested in the truth, what they want is to win . . . (But are grownups so different?)

I don't carry a coin purse.

A little boy with a vivid imagination, presented the following essay on geese:

"Geese is a low, heavy-set bird which is mostly meat and feathers. His head sits on one side and he sits on the other. Geese can't sing much on account of dampness of the moisturs. He ain't got no between his toes and he's got a little balloon in his stommuk to keep from sinking Some geese when they get big has curls on their tails and is called ganders. By FRANCINE MARKEL

DEAR MISS MARKEL—I must buy some new porch furniture and would appreciate some suggestions from you. My house is detached and the porch is situated at the side, completely screened and held from view by surrounding shrubs and trees.

Answer—Make your porch as cozy and as comfortable as possible. For the warm months, it can be made the most relaxing part of your home . . . the place where you will, no doubt, do most of your entertaining.

If the porch floor is of stone flagging, tile, brick or cement, you may leave it bare. If you desire a covering, a colorful grass rug will prove to be a pleasing addition. A long, well-upholstered glider will be comfortable for outdoor sleeping on stifling nights, as well as afford a soft seat for several guests.

Add a wicker magazine chair with a rack at one side for magazines and with a sling on the other side for holding a drinking glass (which when empty can be brought in under the arm).

A deck chair or two in colors harmonizing with your glider and rug will inspire ease in conversation and solid comfort to all. If you have room for them, two wicker rockers and a low table to hold a vase of flowers from your garden or a potted plant, as well as a filled cigarette box and a set of ash trays should about complete your porch equipment unless you may wish to add a harmonizing smokers' stand.

The World At A Glance

Russians Must Work Harder.
Japan Buys Indian Cotton.
Rumania Acts For Rumanians.

By LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Columnist

THERE IS much going on in other parts of the world of which we hear little.

For instance, the Soviet industrial worker now has to increase his production in order to maintain his wages at the same level. That is part of the Stakhanoff speedup campaign.

In Italy, the 40-hour week has been suspended in industries that have a surplus of orders. Rearmament factories already had been working up to 60 hours a week.

When the Conservatives' budget was presented to the British house of commons by Neville Chamberlain, chancellor of the exchequer, it was met by labor cheers—none by the Conservatives. Tory industrialists termed the proposed new taxation as socialistic.

* * *

COTTON FROM INDIA

India now has the cheapest cotton in the world. Thus Japan has become a heavy buyer of it. Brazil's 1936-'37 cotton crop breaks all records. Argentina's cotton suffered damage. In brief, American cotton price level could not be maintained except by government support.

British Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin, upon retiring, will move from No. 10 Downing street, official residence of prime ministers, directly to a house owned by his son-in-law, Arthur J. P. Howard—in Eaton square, London. Mr. Baldwin had to find a house with enough library space for all his books.

Incidentally, due to the Tory uproar over the budget presented by Chancellor of the Exchequer Chamberlain, some of the most influential contributors to the Conservative "war chest" are urging that Mr. Baldwin remain as prime minister. He will not. Chamberlain is the real leader of the party.

IN AUSTRIA

In another anti-Semetic, anti-liberal move in Fascist-dominated Austria, the name of the great German poet Heinrich Heine has been removed from one of the model tenement houses erected by the Socialists when they controlled Vienna. Heine was a Jew.

On the other hand, a bill introduced into the Rumanian parliament to deprive Rumanian citizens not of the Rumanian race of their citizenship under certain circumstances has been dropped. But another bill has been introduced to give Rumanian citizens of "Rumanian blood" a privileged position in economic life.

National cost of air-raid precautions in England is estimated at $175,000,000. The majority of municipalities have pleaded with the government to bear most of the cost as their local taxation cannot take care of it.

THOMAS' VIEW

Norman Thomas, interviewed in England, said that American socialism's best hope lies in the agricultural districts. The British expressed surprise.

England has been greatly shocked by continued executions of leading Ethiopians by Mussolini's conquering forces. The executions of three sons of the Ethiopian representative in London aroused a storm in the house of commons—but nothing can be done.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

A PIONEER SUGAR REFINERY

The Ware family, of Wilmington, Vt., have run a general merchandising store in that little village among the hills for more than one hundred years.

The store today is a wooden building resembling a great barn, and within its walls are contained about as much different kinds of merchandise as you will find in Marshall Fields' or John Wanamaker's. It is, in very truth, a "General Store."

This store has been handed down from father to son and during all this time, the Wares have sold maple sugar. They own a veritable forest of maple trees and their sugar is sold all over America. Many of these trees were planted during the Revolutionary War, for the life of a sugar maple tree has been computed to be one hundred fifty years. In fact, they just begin to show how good they are as sap producers at fifty or sixty years of age.

I stopped at the Ware's back in '26, on my way to the Mohawk Valley. I found Mr. O. W. Ware, the then proprietor of the store, to be an old man, partially paralyzed, but very alert. When I asked him about the maple sugar, a rather wild-eyed woman standing near said, "He hasn't any maple sugar. He hasn't any maple trees. The maple syrup he sells is no good." I was a little surprised that neither Mr. Ware nor his son nor his daughter, who were standing about, said nothing. They paid no attention whatsoever and I found out later from the daughter that this woman was the village incompetent, who was permitted to roam about at will and that no one paid any particular attention to her, because she was believed to be harmless.

I then found what a wonderful maple sugar refinery the Wares had maintained over all the years and I was very cordially invited to visit the sugar camp in February or March of the succeeding year that I might see a real sugar camp. During Mr. O. W. Ware's lifetime (he died four years ago), I received each year the same cordial invitation to come to his camp. He told me that he got about ten gallons of sap from each tree and this sap when refined would produce about four pounds of maple sugar. The annual price list which comes from the store always brears the picture of the little refinery in the hills, in the Green Mountains, if you will.

Chosroes conquered all central Asia, Asia Minor and eastern Europe; acquired so much wealth it required 5,000 elephants to carry it and he had 1,500 wives and concubines. Yet he died in poverty and obscurity, deserted by all except one of his wifes, who was the only Christian among the 1,500.

President Of National Women's Press Club Is Visitor Here On Monday

Mrs. Douglas Malloch, a charming lady from Chicago, conceiver, organizer and first president of the National Federation of Press Women, which is just five days old, was at The Castleton Monday, having accompanied her author-husband to the Rotary club Ladies' Night festivities.

Mrs. Malloch was chosen president of the new national organization at a meeting of newspaperwomen in Chicago on May 6—women who represented press associations in many different states. Although state press clubs have been in operation for years and many are quite active, never before has a national federation been formed. Mrs. Malloch said in talking to a local newspaperwoman yesterday that the enthusiasm shown at the Chicago meeting had exceeded all her hopes; she is confident that the new organization will expand rapidly. At present it is estimated that about 500 women, active editorial writers, are embraced by the federation.

Members-at-large include such notables as Dorothy Dix, Carrie Jacobs Bond, Dorothy Thompson (Mrs Sinclair Lewis) and other prominent news writers in Alabama, Arizona, Delaware, Georgia, Iowa, Kansas, Louisiana, Michigan, Texas, New York, Nevada, South Dakota, Oklahoma, Oregon, Rhode Island, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Montana, New Mexico and Pennsylvania.

Pennsylvania, whose state association of newspaperwomen was organized just two or three weeks ago, was represented by two members at the Chicago meeting.

Mrs. Malloch is an ideal leader for the movement. She is quick but not officious; positive in attitude but a friendly, good ambassador. She has had 17 years of writing experience, most on magazines, and knows the field thoroughly. For a long time she was active in, and also president of, the Illinois association. Her husband was a reporter for 11 years, later winning prominence as a poet, author and after-dinner speaker.

Work Started On Playground At Castlewood

Shenango Township Community Will Soon Have Recreation Park And Pool

Work has now started at Castlewood on a modern playground and swimming pool. Under the direction of road supervisors, Kennedy, Smith, and Baldwin, of Shenango township and Frank Leonardo, director of the recreation department of the Works Progress Administration, this work is now going forward.

Rustic shelter houses, courts for basketball, volley ball and tennis, are being constructed. Swings and other equipment will also be installed, to make this site one of the most modern in this district.

The swimming pool, which will be of regulation size, will be constructed of stone furnished by the W. P. A.

A campaign for funds will be started soon, to be used to purchase cement for the pool, and buying other equipment for the playground.

Contributions to this fund will be received by Harry J. Miller treasurer of the Castlewood Community Organization.

Rescued Miner Battles Death

(International News Service)

TAMAQUA, Pa., May 11.—William Hosler, 26-year-old "bootleg" coal miner, of Tamaqua, was in a critical condition in a hospital today after being pulled from a 40-foot make-shift mine where he was held prisoner for more than 18 hours by a cave-in.

Rescue crews, completing the laborious job of removing the tons of earth and coal from the mine shaft, reached the entombed miner about 10 p. m. last night. He was trapped about 4 a. m. yesterday.

At Coaldale hospital, physicians described Hosler's condition as "critical."

Bert Stevenson Now Recovering

Word received in this city from Mrs. Bert Stevenson is to the effect that Mr. Stevenson is now able to sit up and go around in a wheel chair some each day. He appreciates the flowers, letters and cards he has received.

Special Elections Being Held Today

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, May 11.—Two "special" elections were held in the commonwealth today—one to choose a congressman to fill a vacancy, the other to fill a vacant state senatorial seat.

In the 18th "shoestring" district, a congressman will be elected to succeed the late Benjamin K. Focht, Republican. Richard M. Simpson, G. O. P. candidate, is opposed by Lowell H. Alexander, Mifflin, Democrat.

In the state senatorial contest, Maj. C. P. A. Barlett, Republican, opposed William G. Barthold, Democrat. The vacancy was caused by resignation of Warren R. Roberts, Bethlehem. Loss of the senate seat by the Democrats would cause them to fall short of the two-thirds majority necessary for senate confirmation of executive appointments.

Notable Array Of World Guests At State Banquet

King George And Queen Elizabeth Entertain Many Dignitaries

(International News Service)

LONDON, May 11.—London society sat in judgment today on last night's great state banquet. King George and Queen Elizabeth entertained royal visitors, ambassadors and nobles of the realm gathered here for their coronation, and the verdict was—superlative. The general consensus was that the banquet surpassed in brilliance virtually any state function in recent years.

Royal guests present included Crown Princess Juliana of the Netherlands and Prince Bernhard, her husband, and the crown prince and crown princesses of Norway, Denmark and Sweden. More than 400 other guests—state ministers, high court officials, nobles and other dignitaries—crowded the glittering banquet hall in Buckingham palace, eating a perfectly prepared dinner served on gold plates and costly china.

The American coronation delegates were present, and King George cordially shook the hand of each., Gen. John J. Pershing, Admiral Hugh Rodman and James W. Gerard.

Plan To Confer On Highway Bill

Another Step Taken Toward Enactment Of "Dream Highway" Of 164 Miles

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, May 11.—Headed for a special conference committee in the legislature today was the Patterson bill to create a Pennsylvania turnpike commission for the construction of a proposed 164-mile "dream highway" from Carlisle to Pittsburgh.

Passed finally in the senate, the measure was laid up when the house moved to non-concur in the upper chamber's amendments. Should the senate now refuse to remove the amendments, special committees would be appointed by each branch to meet and redraft the measure.

Sponsored by Rep. Cliff Patterson, D., Washington, the bill would create a five-member commission to construct, operate and maintain the four-lane super-highway.

Five On Commission

In moving to non-concur, Patterson explained he desired to have the clause providing for a two-thirds vote of the senate for confirmation of commission members removed from the measure in favor of a majority.

The commission would be comprised, under the bill, of the secretary of highways and four members to be appointed by the governor. The highways secretary would serve in an ex-officio capacity and the remaining members would receive salaries of $5,000 annually.

Estimated cost of the road was approximately $65,000,000 and would be financed by bonds issued by the commission. These latter would be secured by tolls charged motorists using the highway.

Fabulously Valuable Gems Are Moved To Westminster Abbey

(International News Service)

LONDON, May 11—Their removal shrouded in deepest secrecy, Britain's fabulously valuable crown jewels were taken from Garrard's during the small hours today and placed in the Jerusalem chamber in Westminster Abbey.

Removal of the jewels was entrusted to tried and faithful officials, who carried out their task under the watchful eyes of a heavily armed guard.

When the jewels were safely placed in the abbey, yeomen of the guard, commanded by the king's barge master, began their vigil over the precious stones.

Civic Music Drive Starts

Seventy-Five Music Lovers Attend Meeting On Monday Evening

PLAN TO SEEK 1,000 MEMBERS

Meeting in the Elks Home Monday evening, approximately 75 lovers of music started the Civic music program on its 1937 way. From the spirit manifest, there seems to be no doubt that the quota set for this year, 1,000 members, will be reached.

Samuel Harrington, representative of the national organization, was present and told the workers that the size and quality of this year's course would be determined entirely by the response to membership. If the 1,000 members are secured, the course will be a four number one, presenting some nationally known artists.

Miss Barbara Schulz, president of Civic Music in New Castle presided and urged the workers to enlist others in the work towards the end that New Castle might have a course comparable to other cities of equal size.

Dr. W. A. Womer delivered the invocation and Bart Richards was the speaker of the evening.

Park Avenue Is Boosted By Song

Is Most-Asked-About Street In New York City At Time

NIGHT MYSTERY PUZZLES O. O. M.

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, May 11.—Irving Berlin's hit tune, "Slumming on Park Avenue," with its implication of grandeur, has done much to advertise the famous thoroughfare. Information clerks at terminals and hotels say it is the most-asked-about street of the moment. Strangers want to say they have seen it.

O. O. McIntyre

In other years the fashionable avenue was Fifth. People who are "address conscious" have in late years moved almost en masse from Fifth to Park. The building of the Waldorf and the Ritz Tower on Park avenue was also a big boon to de luxe tenantry.

Just now Park is luxuriating in a ripple of new one-storied shops. Many tall buildings have been torn down and replaced by modernistic Taj Mahals which house florists, perfume shops and dealers in rare jewels. The low buildings, of course, reduce taxes enormously.

The exclusive strip of Park avenue extends from 46th street to the 100'ds and then goes into a sudden droop and eventually trails off into depressing slums, criss-crossed with fire escapes hung with wet wash. Ending in a hodge-podge market for the very poor.

Midnight mystery which I saw but you figure out: He came out of a Park avenue apartment house near the Waldorf togged in silk hat and white tie, hailed a taxi, rode a block, alighted and walked back to his address. Twenty minutes later he appeared at the curb in a business suit. A splendorous limousine drew up and glancing hurriedly up at a certain window he purred away. Indeed, there is much drama at night from a window chair in New York. About eight years ago I got up to raise a winow one hot summer morning near dawn. At a hotel cater-cornered I saw something that fairly froze my blood. Fifteen stories up a pajama clad figure had climbed out to a ledge, stood wavering a few sickening seconds and plunged to the sidewalk below.

It is rather astonishing too how quickly a crowd congeals in a desolated New York street when visited by accident or tragedy at night. Such disasters bring out strange human specimens—suggesting those white wriggly things under old rocks—never seen save in such exigencies. Also one might believe there is a news photographer on every corner for they are often there before police.

The least known of the women celebrity husbands is Harrison Williams, whose wife has garnered gobs of columns of newspaper space as America's best dressed woman. Rarely is Williams seen at the gay luncheon places, first nights and social resorts where his wife is such an enchanting figure. He is 64 and born of humble parents in a suburb of Cleveland, O. Most of his fortune came from participation in huge public utility enterprises. He is said to care little for society but enjoys rather good books, perhaps a drop in at what Variety calls "a nabe flicker" and writing checks for his wife's famous wardrobe.

Kin Hubbard once observed there were only two things at which one may politely point—Florida real estate and French pastry. Which is remindful of the upshoot in popularity of French pastry in the past few years. It is now one of the most asked-for desserts in the totsy restaurants. And there are artistic creations to delight the eye and tastes to please all palates. I am told that the most highly paid cooking artists are those who design the French pastry. It is another one of the arts in which we have beaten France at her own game.

Sartorial slant: One of the social gossip writers reports that the only male diner not in evening dress at the Colony recently was George Jean Nathan. Incidentally, the Colony, snug and snooty, now has a change in preferred table positions. Formerly the elect were seated only in the small front room. That is true today at the luncheon hour, but for dinner the favored are seated in the back room and away from staring hoi polloi.

I am flattered by this gracious note from the distinguished novelist Ellen Glasgow: "I have read your letter to Billy through a mist of sympathy. You have said what I feel for my Jeremy, a Sealyham, just eight years and four months old when he died. But do not say to 'Billy in Dog Heaven.' Rather to 'Billy in the Heaven of Loyal Hearts,' which, like the Heaven of Jurgen's grandmother, must smell, I fancy, of mignonette—and perhaps spring in the woods."

New Brighton Men Convicted

McDanel Brothers, Construction Company Owners Found Guilty Of Bankruptcy Fraud

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, May 11.—Richard B. McDanel and Orin P. McDanel, brothers of New Brighton, were found guilty Monday in federal court of perpetrating what the government alleged was a $100,000 bankruptcy fraud. The jur recommended leniency.

A sealed verdict reached last week and opened and read Monday, found the brothers guilty of seven counts in violation of the National Bankruptcy Act. They had been charged with 10 counts alleging concealment of $100,000 in assets and making false oaths in connection with the bankruptcy proceedings of the R. B. McDanel Company, a New Brighton construction company.

They were found guilty of concealing bankrupt assets, making false records, destroying minute books, and conspiracy.

Orin McDanel was found guilty of another charge, perjury, before a referee in bankruptcy.

R. B. McDanel faces a maximum penalty of 32 years, according to court attaches, and O. P. McDanel 37 years.

Both were released on $2,500 bond each pending a possible motion for new trial.

APPROVE BOND PROPOSED

Council went into committee meeting during their councilmanic session Monday at city hall and reported favorably a proposed ordinance which provides for an increase of $70,000, in the bonded indebtedness of the city. The bonds will be employed to pay off improvement certificates issued more than two years ago to contractors and which now constitute a debt. The certificates draw six percent and the bonds will pay three percent.

To Report Retail Sales Here As Part Of National System

New Castle Designated As One Of Pennsylvania Cities To Be Included

(Special To The News)

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 11.—The Department of Commerce has selected New Castle as one of the Pennsylvania cities which it will include in its retail sales reporting service during the next fiscal year beginning July 1, it was learned today.

This service, which was inaugurated in 1936 and now includes 14 states, provides the business world and interested individuals and organizations with exact data on the trend of retail sales in states and cities. Reports on sales in different lines of business will be made for the larger cities, while for medium sized and smaller cities, the department expects to print only total figures.

In this work, retail store owners and managers are contacted and their permission to use their sales figures is obtained, provided the figures from individual stores are kept secret. Information is obtained by code, and only a few officials know the sales of individual stores, it is claimed.

In many smaller cities, not enough reports are obtained to warrant printing figlures for them, and in those instances the figures are merely part of the state totals.

This work would be done under an increase of $112,000 in the appropriation for the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce, which prepares the reports.

Two District Boys Pass Examinations For Navy Recruits

Robert Bruce Walker, Portersville youth, has successfully passed his entrance examinations for enlistment in the United States Naval service. Walker applied for enlistment through the local navy station in the Post Office building, and according to Maurice L. Nixon, officer-in-charge of the station, passed his examinations with a high mark.

Walker is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Phillip B. Walker of Portersville. His father was a former member of the United States Navy.

According to Nixon, another local boy, Adam Krezo, 1606 Morris street, has also been accepted for navy duty. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Mikoloai Krezo, and has enlisted for foreign service.

Krezo is a graduate of the senior high school in the class of 1936. He was very prominent in his school life, being a member of the varsity football squad and active in other sports.

Social Security Warning Sounded

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, May 11. — The Social Security board issued a warning against counterfeit social security account cards, some of which, it is alleged, have been used for purposes of identification in cashing worthless checks.

"Cards issued by the board are for identification purposes under the Social Security Act," the board's warning said. "Possession of an account card holds no particular significance for other identification purposes or for the financial responsibility of the individual."

Greenville Girl Killed By Auto

Start Investigation Into Death Of Four-Year-Old Lenora Lebarron

SHARON, Pa., May 11.—Investigation was started today by Dr. W. A. Applegate, county coroner, in Mercer county's tenth traffic fatality this year, that of Lenora Lebarron, four-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Lebarron, R. D. 1, Greenville.

Lenora was struck by an auto driven by Miss Marion Williams, Greenville, on the Greenvill-Hadley road, and she died later in the Greenville hospital.

Miss Williams asserts that she did not see the child but stopped upon feeling something strike her car. Lenora was caught between the front fender and bumper, and sustained fractures of both legs and her right arm, bruises and lacerations, and internal injuries.

Borah's Plan Has Obstacles

Senator Would Change Name And Management Of Republican Party

IDEA IS NOT ENTIRELY NEW

Central Press
Washington Bureau
602 Times-Herald Bldg.
By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, May 11.—Senator Borah's plan to resuscitate the Republican party is about like killing a sufferer from some incurable disease, in order to cure him of it anyway, and then naming some one else to take over his earthly job, on the theory that the new incumbent is the same old individual.

That is to say, the senator proposes to change the party's management, its principles and its name and then go ahead, as just what the G. O. P. used to be.

Thus transmogrified it might go ahead, indeed.

But would it be what it used to be?

* * *

DEMOCRATS LEARY

A change in name, to be sure, isn't altogether an original idea with Senator Borah.

Other Republicans have hinted at it, too.

They would like to scoop in those old-line Democrats, especially in the south, who are bitterly dissatisfied with the New Deal, but they are skeptical that these folk, at least in the south, ever would ally themselves with anything bearing the Republican designation.

For that matter, they're none too sure that it is among the possibilities to persuade an unreconstructed southerner ever to be anything but a Democrat while there remains a Democratic party for him to cleave to.

If only they could trick the New Dealers into abandoning their Democratic label!

Then, in all likelihood, a lot of old-fashioned Democrats, with nowhere else to go, might gravitate to a party, of their own preference, with a new name. The name (Democratic) is what holds them, against their other inclinations; the Republicans are positive of that. And they may be partly right.

* * *

NEW DEALERS HOLD GRIP

However, there is no chance that the New Dealers WILL abandon their Democratic name.

They recognize it as an asset to them, just as the Republicans are beginning to perceive that THEIRS has become a liability to them, very very differently from conditions of olden days—and not so many years olden, either.

Accordingly it is up to the Republicans, if anyone, to rechristen themselves. If they do not do it nobody else will.

* * *

ANTI-HAMILTON

So Borah is not so out of touch with some G. O. P. sentiment in suggesting a new Republican name—something that will not actually repel, if it does not capture anti-New Deal Democratic votes.

When he urges a new management naturally he antagonizes the John D. M. Hamiltonian regime.

Still, that does not so much matter. Chairman Hamilton of the G. O. P. national committee is accused by many Republicans of having bungled his task; they are disposed to indorse a change in managerial methods. They do not want him on the radio. They consider his matrimonial troubles a politically bad thing.

* * *

MORE RADICALISM?

But when it comes to reformed policies?

The Republicans, whom Senator Borah criticizes, have been too conservative. He wants them to liberalize themselves, gathering the conservative Democrats into their fold.

Why? Because, says the senator, New Deal Democracy is too radical.

Yet the senator's program is more radicalism.

Conservatism overdid itself, in Senator Borah's opinion.

Now he is disposed to let radicalism overdo itself.

It is the old homeopathic doctrine of:

Let like cure like.

But—

Can homeopathy be depended on to hold good?

Anyway, a queer way to get conservative Democrats is to offer them a Republican (or ex-Republican) platform, of the radical type.

Yet it is characteristic of these times.

Council Prepares To Accept Site For New Street

Council convened in the city building Monday and reported favorably from committee several proposed ordinances dealing with the donation for one dollar for land owned by the Pennsylvania Power company running across the Rosena site from South Mill to South Jefferson street. The ordinances provides for the acceptance of the land and also establishes building lines in South Jefferson and South Mill streets. The ordinances also provide for building lines on the proposed street which will be 70 feet wide.

Efforts are being made to interest the state in paving the street for the city as it will be built for the purpose of helping to solve the traffic problem here.

Festival Plans Are Formulated

Heads Of Adult Education, Recreation And N. Y. A. To Confer

Adult Education-Recreation Division of Works Progress Administration and National Youth Administration of Lawrence County will combine again this year and will co-operate with county folk committees in the presentation of the second Festival of Nations series in May, through September, Edward N. Jones, state administrator, announced today.

The folk festivals, sponsored by the State Department of Public Instruction, are to be held in each of Pennsylvania's 67 counties, the first to be held in the forum of the Education Building, Harrisburg, May 18, 19 and 20.

In addition to the WPA Education-Recreation Division, other cooperating agencies include the Federal WPA Music projects, the Civilian Conservation Corps and the National Youth Administration.

Free to the public, the festivals last year were attended by nearly a million people. The festivals, besides providing community activity, foster traditional arts of all nationalities, and encourage the groups to become socially conscious of their respective contributions to American culture.

Accordingly, each of Pennsylvania's eight nationality groups are urged to participate so that the music, songs and dances of all races, nations and religions will be included in the programs.

The usctoms and manners which have contributed to the pattern of American culture in Lawrence county will be revealed in the exhibit and entertainment prepared for the public.

The WPA Adult Education-Recreation Division would appreciate hearing from any groups who would be interested in participating in the festival. This will be an opportunity for local persons to demonstrate the culture and traditions of other countries as the trend of this year's festival will be Americanization.

No definite date has as yet been set for the Lawrence county festival, but any persons or groups desiring to participate may call phone 4750, extension 20.

Knew Greta When She Was "Barber"

Eugene J. Nifford, Former Actor Came To U. S. With Greta Garbo In 1920

Screen "Siren" Faces Suit For $10,500 Loaned To Her Years Ago

(International News Service)

HOLLYWOOD, May 11.—Greta Garbo was a "plump but appealing girl" in the old days when she worked as a "lady barber"—before she became a great screen star and before personal tragedies caused her to surround herself with an aura of mystery.

That was the picture painted of the actress today by Eugene J. Nifford, former actor, who has been called in her support in the suit in which an assignee of David Shratter, German film producer seeks $10,500 assertedly loaned to the star in those early days.

Nifford, who is now a Hollywood restaurant owner, revealed he had known Miss Garbo when she was struggling for recognition as an actress in Stockholm in 1920.

Worked As "Extra".

He was leading man and Miss Garbo was an extra.

"I was attracted by a plump but appealing girl," he recalled. "She was sitting at a table. It was a silent picture so we could talk all we wished. I asked her what her name was and she said 'Greta Gustafson'

"I told her I thought she would one day be a great star, but she said 'Ah, no, you are joking.'

"She was 16 then and tremendously ambitious. She asked me what she could do to further her career. She said she could not give up her job as a barber—yes, she was a barber then.

"I advised her to take a course of dramatic training, which she did. Later she was admitted to the Royal Dramatic academy and after two seasons she won a $40 a month contract."

Nifford said that he and Miss Garbo and Maurice, Stiller, ace director, and Einar Hansson, actor, came to Hollywood together.

Became Elusive.

He said he believed that the deaths of Stiller and Hansson so saddened the actress that she became elusive and surrounded herself with the mystery which partially has led to her fame.

The former actor said Miss Garbo had confided in him that she planned after her screen career was finished to make a personal tour of the United States and then become an American citizen and live quietly in Hollywood.

The suit which is being brought against Miss Garbo is scheduled to tried June 21. The actress has denied she ever received any money from Shratter.

Chain Store Tax Proposal Near Final State Action

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, May 11—Final senate approval of the controversial $3,500,000 chain store tax proposal was expected today.

The upper chamber delayed action on the measure yesterday when a small Democratic group headed by Sen. Anthony J. Cavalcante, D., Fayette, was successful in inserting an amendment which would specifically bring theatres within the scope of the bill.

Although some Democratic quarters held the bill provided for this without the amendment, Cavalcante succeeded in his move for the change in order to "clarify" the measure.

The bill, which has already been approved by the house but must be returned there for concurrence in amendments, was designed to raise the salaries of teachers and increase school terms in fourth class school districts. It provides for a graduated tax of from $1 to $500, although it exempts news-stands.

Queen Mary Likely To Attend Duke's Wedding

By KENNETH DOWNS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

MONTS, France, May 11.—The queenly form of England's Mary, toque hat and all, will likely be present at the wedding of her son, the Duke of Windsor, and Mrs. Wallis Simpson.

This was the growing belief today of circles close to the duke and the American lady, who are quietly waiting for the spotlight to swerve away from this week's coronation of the duke's younger brother, George VI.

Edward Windsor and the remainder of the royal family are in thorough harmony, it was reliably reported, and this belief was borne out in the extreme precautions taken by the ex-king against publicity regarding his wedding plans until after the coronation. He is determined in no way to detract from the importance of Wednesday's London ceremonial.

Queen Mary, friends felt, will come in the role, not of queen, but of mother of a favored son.

The wedding will be simple, but impressive, it was learned. Great attention will be paid to proper carrying out of details.

Mrs. Simpson often reminisces about her former home, Baltimore, according to Herman Rogers of New York, a fellow-guest at the Chateau De Cande here.

She and the duke plan to visit Baltimore some time in the future, but not immediately after their wedding.

Golf remains the chief diversion of the duke and his bride-to-be. Life at the chateau begins around 10:30 in the morning, when they arise. Mrs. Simpson's favorite meal is her American breakfast of ham, eggs, toast, jam and coffee.

To the bewilderment of the seven French cooks at the chateau, she also likes pastries for breakfast.

Sunday was "hair-cut day" at the ancient castle, when Mrs. Simpson had her own hair done and then turned her hairdresser, imported from Paris, loose on the duke and Rogers.

Auto Speeders Being Arrested

Chief of Police Ralph Criswell stated today that police in cruiser automobiles had arrested seven autoists for speeding yesterday in different sections of the city. He also said that within the near future the motorcycle will be put in operation as an aid to checking dangerous operation of cars here.

"There is no excuse for speeding" said Mayor Charles E. McGrath in commenting on the speed problem here.

Declares Theatres Will Be Picketed

Striking Motion Picture Crafts Leader Says Big Cities To See Theatre Pickets

(International News Service)

HOLLYWOOD, May 11—Retaliating grimly after loss of support of the powerful screen actors' guild striking motion picture craftsman today turned down a producers peace offer and ordered a nationwide theatre boycott.

Charles Lessing, head of the federated motion picture crafts said he had sent telegrams accepting offers of aid from the A. F. of L. and CIO units all over the country.

He said 340,000 men would be on picket lines tonight around thatres in New York, Detroit, Chicago, Boston, Cleveland, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, Minneapolis and St. Paul.

"And we expect to have 2,000,000 out by the end of the week" Lessing said. "We will picket all theatres showing films produced by the 'Big Ten' studios here."

Strikers and sympathizers here continued today to concentrate on picketing of the studios, where 5,000 craft members formed lines about the gates.

No attempts were made, however, to molest actors and actresses whose guild has secured exclusive recognition from the producers. Picture making at all the lots was reported proceeding as usual.

Meantime, directors for the motion picture producers association were holding a series of conferences through which they hope to devise an offer which will quash the threat of the theatre boycott.

COMMENTS ON CITY CONDITIONS

Editor,
New Castle News,
New Castle, Pa.

Dear Sirs:

I noticed and read with interest Mr. Carl W. Haufler's letter in a recent issue of The News, and if it is not taking too much of your valuable space, I would like to comment a little on same.

I heartily agree with what Mr. Haufler said in a number of things. New Castle does need a Chamber of Commerce, but not one with four or five men, but a Chamber of Commerce of representative business men and working men of the city, who will take an interest in the affairs of the city.

If the readers of this paper will remember, I had an ad at one time, in which I referred to the way business concerns and other institutions, when in need of a man for a responsible position, in nearly every case some man was employed to fill that position from some other city, when New Castle, which is surrounded by four or five of the best colleges in the country, where our sons and daughters are graduating in large numbers every year. These graduates of these colleges, and sons of our own citizens, are compelled to go out and make a name for themsedves somewhere else, and New Castle could mighty well be proud of some of those sons and daughters who have gone out, if they were located in New Castle today.

There are a number of things in New Castle that will have to be changed before it starts to go forward instead of backwards. One of the things is, we will have to be careful how we spend our money, and try and reduce our taxes, as in most cases today it is much cheaper to rent a property than to own one. And it is nearly impossible to build a property or buy one and rent it and get any reasonable interest on your money.

Another thing that should be stopped is, there should be an ordinance prohibiting organizations, societies, etc., putting on suppers and plays and other things and going out and insisting on the business men and the citizens of New Castle buying, quite often, a great many more tickets than they need. It is alright to put on these entertainments, etc., but those who want to go, let them buy tickets, and those who do not, let them do otherwise. This money that the business men are compelled to lay out, is only an additional expense on the consumer, as it has to be added somewhere, and if the consumer owns his property (and there are a few left who do) and has taxes to pay, he has done his duty, without having an additional expense added for these extra expenses for tickets, etc., that the business man is compelled to pay. If the amount of money that has been raised in New Castle in the last year, to keep up these entertainments, suppers, etc., had been placed in a fund by the citizens, in order to offer free sites to manufacturing plants, the results would be a great deal better for New Castle.

As I said before, we must be careful about spending our money and getting value received. When East North street, from East street to Neshannock avenue was repaved, I demanded that my stone curb should be used again, otherwise there would be a law suit in the matter. It was put back down and is being used, I would say now, for 25 to 30 years, and is good for 25 to 30 years more. When they widened the balance of North street I saw them putting in cement curb. I said in three years two-thirds of it would have to be replaced. I don't believe that some of it is going to last that long, and I notice that about half of it has begun to deteriorate and crumble away.

Spending of the tax payers money in a city the size of New Castle should be spent in a way that New Castle will get value received, no matter who it helps or hurts, as it is the public's money. And everything done in the city should be done by efficient help that understands the work they are doing, and should be put through at the least expense possible, and the city that does not do so, sooner or later will have grass growing on the streets.

We did a mighty fine thing when we placed curb lights on a number of streets in New Castle, and these improvements are wonderful, even though the plans did show that they were to be continued from East North street to Neshannock avenue that has never been done. I do not know why. And if there is a busy street and a place that they were needed, it certainly is on this street. When a former council changed the lighting system of New Castle they paid a man a big price for telling them where to put the lights, and if they were all placed in the position that he specified, as they were on East North street, from East to Neshannock avenue, any seventh grade school pupil could have told them where to place them, as well as the man to whom they paid this sum of money.

Now, everyone in New Castle will have to do his best and get together and work for the benefit of New Castle, or we will wake up some of these times and find nothing here for the unemployed.

Very truly yours,
W. R. CAMPBELL,
New Castle, Pa.

Police Confiscate Ball Gum Machines

Policemen H. E. Richards, Fleeger and Lockhart last night confiscated several one ball gum machines from two different stores.

The store-owners claimed they were put in the stores by the owner of the machines.

The machines paid a prize, according to the officers.

The store-owners were not arrested.

MOLASSES and SEMI-SOLID BUTTERMILK

Would You Poultrymen Like To Have A Growing Mash Containing These Two Ingredients That Is Dry and Non-Lumpy —And Not Messy?

Well, we are happy to announce that you can now have it. After months of experimenting and testing we are able to offer you a Growing Mash with Semi-Solid Buttermilk, Pure Cane Molasses (not dried molasses), Cod Liver Oil and Iodine, that we can guarantee in every respect.

Large commercial mixers all over the country have been trying for years to develop such a Mash and place it on the market. Do you know of any such Mash offered yet except the one we are now offering?

It has been through our untiring efforts, expense and research that we are able to be the first to give you this valuable Mash. Just stop and consider what this is going to mean as an aid in the prevention of Coccidiosis. The best known Coccidiosis control is Lactose. Semi-Solid Buttermilk has long been known to be the best source of this acid. Molasses brightens plumage, stimulates the appetite, aids digestion, supplies Vitamin G, which promotes growth, stimulates egg production, increases hatchability, and prevents chick pellagra. The best part of it is that

IT COSTS YOU NO MORE THAN ORDINARY MASH

You Feed It Entirely—Not Periodically

With Coccidiosis prevalent, as we find it today, we see no reason why every good Poultryman should not take advantage of this particular type of Control Mash and give those pullets a chance to develop into good, husky, healthy layers.

START YOUR CHICKS AT FIVE OR SIX WEEKS ON THIS MOLASSES - SEMI-SOLID BUTTERMILK GROWING MASH AND GIVE THEM AND YOURELF A BREAK THIS FALL WHEN EGG PRICES ARE SURE TO BE HIGH AND BROILERS PROFITABLE

FELLER TRIES FOR DIPLOMA

Young Pitching Sensation Goes Back To School To Graduate With His Class

(International News Service)

VAN METER, Ia., May 11.—Far from the roaring crowds, Bob Feller, the 18-year-old boy with story book career, packed his school books today and prepared for a task tougher even than pitching to Lou Gehrig.

Tomorrow Bob was scheduled to take his desk at the consolidated high school and submit to two examinations. Two more were to follow Thursday, and should all go well, the young mound sensation of the Cleveland Indians will receive his diploma with the rest of his class on Friday night.

Yesterday en route home, Feller was greeted as a hero in nearby Des Moines. Close to 1,000 fans cheered him at the municipal airport, and in the car of Mayor Joseph Allen he was paraded through downtown streets, crowded with home-bound workers.

Feller said his injured arm still gave him trouble and he likely would not pitch again until May 23, when he expected to face the New York Yankees.

Roosevelt Refuses To Accept Postponement Of Action On Court

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 11.—President Roosevelt has been asked but emphatically refused to accept a postponement of senate action on his Supreme Court Bill until fall.

The president told his congressional leaders he was entitled to prompt consideration of an early decision on his plan. He said in effect:

"Congress must stay in session until its legislative program is completed. There can be no adjournment until its work is finished."

A group of administration leaders, who fear prolonged debate on the court bill will create a huge legislative log jam on Capitol Hill, asked the president to agree to enactment of appropriation and other pending bills, an all-summer recess of congress and action on the court bill next fall. They expressed fear the court battle now will last so long, many other bills will be killed in the jam.

Hoped Two Justices Would Retire

Behind this move was a hope that at least two present justices of the supreme court would retire this summer, following its June adjournment. This rumor has prevailed for weeks, only to be counteracted from time to time by other reports that no justice would retire until after congress disposes of the president's bill. If action were delayed until fall and two justices did retire, some leaders hoped the president's bill would be withdrawn or that he would accept a compromise, thus ending the present heated contest.

The president's attitude toward a recess was shared by both Senator Ashurst (D) of Arizona, judiciary committee chairman, who has charge of the bill, and Senator Van Nuys (D) of Indiana, leader of the opposition. Both denounced the recess proposal.

Ashurst said:

"Let us perform our duties now. One duty is to press forward manfully to a decision on the president's court bill. We air-conditioned our senate chamber. It will be lovely to remain in our air-cooled chamber all summer. We are paid to stay here; let us not play truants."

Van Nuys said:

"I have refused all invitations to leave Washington until after this court controversy is decided. We must stay here until we reach a decision, even if it takes until Christmas. It is my judgment that the bill will be conclusively defeated in the senate and for the good of business recovery and the country, that ought to be done now and not after a recess. The whole nation is awaiting a decision."

The judiciary committee, meanwhile, resumed its secret deliberations on the bill. It will hear Senator McAdoo (D) of California today in defense of his proposal for a permanent 15-judge court, and Senator Andrews (D) of Florida, Wednesday on a proposal for a permanent court of eleven justices. There will be no voting in committee on either amendments or bill until May 18.

GROVE CITY HAS $10,000 BLAZE

(Special To The News)

GROVE CITY, May 11—A barking dog is credited with saving several lives here early yesterday in a $10,000 blaze at the Book-Davis Co. building. The animal's alarm at 5 a. m. aroused two families in their second-floor apartment, and the members were able to reach the street in safety. It is believed that sparks from the furnace ignited the roof.

The Book-Davis Co. suffered heavy loss in the building, supplies and equipment. G. E. Montgomery's apartment was damaged by smoke, and William Porter, whose dog gave the alarm, lost heavily when three rooms, with many furnishings stored on a rear porch, were damaged.

When the alarm was given at 5 a. m. telephone operators warned 20 merchants whose stores were endangered, but prompt arrival of the firemen kept the flames confined to the Book-Davis building, which is just across a narrow alley from the Broad street business district.

Dr. James Grier To Be Honored

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, May 11—Dr. James Grier, president of Monmouth College, Illinois, alumnus of Westminster Collge, will receive a LL. D. degree in special morning chapel exercises Tuesday, May 11, honoring students who placed on the first semester honor roll.

Dr. Grier, graduate of the 1902 class, returned to the college 1905-07 to teach in the department of Greek. Later, after graduating from the Pittsburgh theological seminary, he taught Old Testament literature in the seminary, 1926-29. For three years, he was pastor of the Sixth United Presbyterian church, Pittsburgh. In 1936, he was made president of Monmouth College.

AROUND CITY HALL

Efforts of city council and others to secure a state hospital for the County of Lawrence are appreciated by businessmen, one of whom recently spoke very glowingly of their efforts. The proposed hospital would cost $2,000,000. It is probable that considerable local labor would be employed and in all probability a large amount of the institution's needs could be supplied by local businessmen. And again there would be an influx of visitors here from time to time.

Councilman Joseph D. Alexander stated today that material for the repair of Rainbow Terrace, at Cascade Park, has arrived and workmen are awaiting a warm day to apply the substance which is a sort of roofing paint. When the problem of repairing the roof first came up it was felt that it would be necessary to spend several thousand dollars. The material cost only several hundred dollars. City workmen will do the repairing under the jurisdiction of a man from the firm which supplied the material. The park will open May 30.

Mayor Charles E. McGrath called a spade a spade during council meeting yesterday when traffic was discussed. He told his colleagues that more traffic lights are needed and added that when the Rosena site street is put through the traffic load will be decreased on Washington street. In regard to parking the city's chief executive told his colleagues that a number of people bring their cars downtown and park them from morning until night, moving them only when an officer is due to arrive at the spot. Speaking of the parking meter system proposed to be tried out on several streets, the mayor said the people who park their cars will pay for the system and not one cent will be appropriated by the city for the system. Other councilmen spoke of speeding. The mayor agreed there is some speeding here. However, he told council that police in cruiser cars now are on the move day and night, in an effort to catch the motorist who endangers the lives of himself and others. The mayor further asserted that no one arrested for speeding will be excused.

City of New Castle has bought from Perry-Bryan, an International used one-ton and one-half chassis for the garbage department which Councilman J. Myron Rice said the department needed. Some repairs were made at the garbage department during the winter and at times one or more trucks were out of commission. However, the men working under Ed. Umbright did not permit this to interfere with collections. Recently collection of tin cans got under way. With house furnaces closed, garbage can be expected to increase, hence Rice's desire to have the men at the plant and the men in charge of the collection provided with necessities for keeping garbage cans as empty as possible. This is one feature of the city's duty to citizens that house wives appreciate greatly.

Not long ago the city of New Castle called in for redemption $100,000 worth of bonds. So far about $15,000 worth has been redeemed. It is expected that they would all be turned back soon as they became due on May 1.

Early last week, Owen Fox, city forester, planted several young trees on the public square but they are not there now, he reports. Someone broke off the trees.

Policemen in cruiser cars received orders from Police Chief Ralph Criswell several days ago to take into custody any auto operator who drives a motor car in such a manner as to endanger autoists and pedestrians.

Spring Operetta Wednesday Night

Students Of Mt. Jackson To Present "Jerry Of Jericho Road"

With rehearsals about completed, a cast and chorus of seventy trained to the minute, "Jerry of Jericho Road" an operetta in three acts promises well for the Mt. Jackson high school Wednesday night, May 12.

The operetta has a western setting, the music is catchy and the plot running through it is shot through with enjoyable comedy. The cast and chorus include the senior and junior students of the high school, with W. H. McCullough in charge as director. The cast follows:

Uncle Pete, an Old westerner, Earl Emery.
Allan O'Day, owner of ranch. Robert Lipp.
Geraldine Bank, known as Jerry. Sarah Thompson.
John Drayton, Allan's cousin, Charles McCullough.
Mimi, a flapper. Clara Crawford.
Dora, Mimi's cousin Florence Hoffman.
Cornelius Bean, from Boston. Howard Main.
Amos Bank, an Easterner. James Martin.
Lettice Bank, his wife. Eleanor Gardner.
Sandy Bank, their daughter, Sarah Buttermore.
Hunter, a detective. Lester Hodge.

Supporting the cast will be a chorus of cowboys, ghosts, and masqueraders and a dancing chorus of cow girls. The scene is Allan O'Day's ranch.

LIBRARY BOARD TONIGHT

Tonight at 7:30 o'clock in the free public library, members of the library board will meet for their monthly session.

After water has been in a vase, there is frequently a mark left that is hard to get off. A few drops of olive or any other oil, rubbed inside a vase where the mark is likely to appear will prevent its recurrence.

Thaddeus Stevens Students Present Temperance Play

School Pupils Start Each Week With Pledge Against Alcohol King

With the plan in mind of promoting the Temperance idea in the minds of the students, a special program is given each Monday morning at the opening of school, stressing this point. Yesterday, a special program consisting of a play on the temperance subject was presented before the students and a group of parents at the Thaddeus Stevens school. The program was sponsored by Miss Anna R. Perry, and was in charge of Miss Leona Sankey.

At the program yesterday, a public session of the good citizens club was held. At this meeting the problem of indulging in the use of alcoholic beverages was discussed openly by the members of the club, who were all students of Thaddeus school. When the merits of the move were told every student was willing to sign a pledge.

The characters in the play included: King Alcohol, Edward Gilkey; president, Leonard Gorden; secretary, Phyllis Burdette; members, Betty Jane DeGennaro, Geraldine Anderson, Helen Wagner, Delores DeLorenzo, Alice Gillespie, Harold Gray, Thomas Candioto, Billy Cutler, Paul Hawkins, George Jenkins, Leah Lach, Richard Fehrenbach, and Delores Beighley.

Following this playlet the best workers for the entire school for the past week were named by Miss Perry, and honored for their achievement. Those honored were: Sammie Webber, Delores Dunkerly, Norma Pillifant, James McFarland, Helen Motsko, William Morgan, Paul Lombardo, Trevor Taylor, Jack McMillin, Mary Rowan, Margaret Henderson, and James Blair.

According to Miss Mary Perry these temperance lessons will continue each week until the close of the term, and each teacher in the school will have an opportunity to plan some sort of a program for her class.

BIRTHPLACE OF ELECTRIC LIGHT

Do you know that Sunbury is properly known as "the birthplace of the electric light?"

Thomas A. Edison conducted experiments in Sunbury which led to the development of the world's first three-wire commercial lighting system. The city hotel, destroyed by fire in 1914 and later rebuilt, was the first building in the world to be electrically lighted.

WIFE REFUSES TO EAT

Husband In Despair—

Sometimes even the best of husbands fail to realize how helpless he would be without his wife. It is the wife who keeps things going in the home. As long as she is well and strong, everything goes right and nobody stops to think that the whole happiness of the family is based on the woman's work. But when she gets sick, and no longer can get the meals and care for the children, and do all the hundred other tasks which make up a woman's day, then the family begins to realize how much she has been doing for them—especially the poor helpless husband.

Mr. John Kramer of 205 New Mem Ave., Rochester, Pa., went through a very painful experience this kind. "My wife had always been so healthy," he says, "that I never stopped to think what would happen to all of us, if she should get sick. When we came to this country from Germany, she stood the change of climate very well, at first. But after about two years, she began to complain of shortness of breath. Soon it was plain that she had an asthmatic condition of the heart. She wheezed terribly. Whenever she tried to lie down to rest she suffered a spell of suffocation. This got so bad that she could not even go to bed at night, but would have to get what sleep she could, seated in a chair. She got so weak and discouraged that she would not eat. Often, for days at a time, she would not touch a bite. Our home, where we had always been so happy, just seemed to go to pieces. We got no regular meals, and the children ran wild. I was in despair."

Of course, I tried the usual American remedies, but we are Germans, and naturally these so-called remedies were of no real use to my wife. By accident, I read in the paper about World's Tonic. The fact that this new scientific preparation is made from plants, gathered in their proper season, in different parts of the world, impressed me as soon as I learned it. I got a bottle, at the drug store, and, after she had taken just a few doses, the improvement in my wife's condition was so marked that I knew I was right. She kept right on taking World's Tonic, and, wonderful as it seems, she was entirely well at the end of four weeks, as it cleaned her blood up and regulated her bowels. I think now that all she really needed was some strengthening element from the soil of our native Germany. When this was supplied by World's Tonic her health and strength came back at once. At any rate, the wheezing suffocation and all the other dreadful symptoms of her affliction passed away like a bad dream. Everything in our home is just fine now, but I will never forget again how much her health means to me and the children. I give all the credit to World's Tonic." World's Tonic is on sale at Eckerd's, Paisley's, and other modern drug stores. (B-100)

Senior High Girl Reserves Meet At Y. W. Last Evening

"Interest Groups" Occupy Attention Of Girls At Regular Meeting

Preceded by a cabinet meeting in a local tearoom, the Girl Reserve club of the New Castle senior high schools met in the auditorium of the Y. W. C. A. Monday night. An outline of the evening follows:

Devotions, Dorothy Porte.

Announcements, Edwinna Connery, about next week's "hobby" meeting, speaker, Mrs. Jack McNeil. Girl Reserves requested to bring their hobbies for the display. These hobbies may be brought into "Y" any time during coming week. Carol Ransom, business manager of the "G R Chatter" announced that the paper will be out next Monday. Permits for the trip to Pittsburgh should be signed by parents and be turned into the "Y" by Friday, the 14th.

Adjourned to interest groups.

Mr. DeSanctis, leader in the chorus group had a special practice for the songs that G R's will sing for the annual meeting on the 18th.

In the crafts, Miss Janice Wrathall instructed the girls in making clever hobby horses that were distributed to all G R's as publicity for next week's meeting on "hobbies."

Miss Regina Popp was busily engaged giving directions to girls in her group where they were very industriously knitting bathing suits, sweaters, coats and dresses to be worn this summer.

The girls in the diction group will now be able to intelligently read the menus in the "classiest" of eating places because Miss Mary Perdue is guiding their pronunciation and interpreting the meaning of French words found on menus, words that often prove quite embarassing.

Girls in the bowling and basketball groups were getting plenty of health giving exercise supervised by Miss Laura Carson and Miss Cleola Cotton, respectively.

An outline of the cabinet dinner meeting at the tearoom, 5:30 p. m. follows:

Main business for discussion was evaluation of this years program, with each officer and committee chairman evaluating her own particular responsibility and making suggestions for next year's organization and program.

Discussion of the annual meeting on 18th and of annual G R trip to Pittsburgh on 19th. Special meeting of cabinet next Monday at 6:30 in club room of "Y."

CRASH VICTIMS ARE RECOVERING

Two Of Victims In Smashup Near Edenburg Saturday Evening Leave Hospital

According to the reports from the Jameson Memorial hospital this morning, all of the victims of the automobile crash on the Union Quarry road, west of Edenburg, Saturday evening, which resulted in the death of James Scopacasa are now getting along nicely.

Two of them, Little Andy Lellio, of East Railroad street, Lowellville; and Raffalene Picarello, of Washington street, Lowellville, who received only minor bruises and lacerations, were able to leave the hospital yesterday.

It is feared, however, that it will still be necessary to remove the left leg of Mrs. Mary Picarello, who was the worst injured in the group. Doctors are making every effort to avert amputation, but her leg was so badly crushed that it is feared this will be necessary.

TO PRESENT RECITAL

NEW WILMINGTON, May 11.—A two-piano recital will be presented in the Westminster college chapel by conservatory of music students, Wednesday evening, May 12, at 8:30 o'clock. Up for final passage at the present time in the general assembly is a bill which if passed will handcuff every sheriff in the commonwealth and make bigger and better riots possible.

The bill, HR 904, is the brain child of Representatives Reising and Nagel and as originally worded was not so bad, but in the Senate has been amended until in its present shape it practically eliminates the use of the sheriff's office in time of crisis or emergency.

A copy of the bill has come to Sheriff Edward D. Pritchard and is on his desk now. The bill provides that the sheriff can appoint only general deputies and none for special service. In order to appoint general deputies the sheriff must first file a request with the county clerk at least 30 days prior to the appointment.

This is bad enough but the bill later makes it impossible to get special deputies for emergencies through the provision that in case of emergency the sheriff must give notice to the county commissioners, they in turn must give public notice of a hearing not less than 48 hours after the application. At the hearing anybody can be heard and after hearing the petition the commissioners must file a written opinion.

For example. If a riot broke out in a township and officers were needed immediately, it would be impossible to get them out there under two and a half days. By that time the riot would be over, people would be dead or injured and the deputies could take a look at the ruins.

Further, the bill provides that city policemen cannot be used for private work except for exhibitions or athletic contests and then the money for their pay must go to the city.

In an opinion handed down today in the case of Elizabeth Edmunds against Melvin S. Jordan, the attorney's fee of ten per cent is declared just. The case was one in which an attorney's fee of 10 per cent in a $2000 mortgage was contested.

A divorce has been granted to Margaret L. McKnight from her husband William D. McKnight.

An amicable action of ejection and confession of judgment has been entered in the prothontary's office by James M. Smith, Jr. and his wife against William M. Nunn.

An amicable action in ejectment and confession of judgment has been entered by Roy B. Grafton and his wife against Edward M. Vandegrift and his wife.

Two men carried a new court house into the present court house on Monday morning. The "new" court house was merely a small model of the court house which was proposed, and over which a suit is now in progress in court room number two.

Abe Klingensmith has been appointed to a post in the office of County Controller Frank W. Hill, replacing Henry Wettich who recently resigned.

"King Anthony" Says He'll Behave

(International News Service)

LONDON, May 11—Britain's "King Anthony" won't disturb the coronation of King George.

He promised as much himself in person today when worried Scotland yard detectives called at his house and demanded point-blank what he proposed to do about it.

Later it was officially announced that the detectives won the would-be monarch's "assurances he would not interfere."

"King Anthony," otherwise known as Anthony Hall, has annoyed British officials for years with claims that he alone is rightful claimant of the British throne and all others are imposters.

President Tells Tall Fish Stories

GALVESTON, Texas, May 11.—President Franklin D. Roosevelt today topped the season's crop of "big fish" stories with one he believed suited to a state the size of Texas.

"I could tell you many fish stories but only one worthy of the magnitude of Texas," the president joshed Col. Edwin M. Watson, his military aide.

"A member of my party (Col. Watson) caught a 24-pound amberjack and this morning it had grown to 35 pounds."

West Side P. T. A. Meets On Monday

Group Discusses Advisability Of Continuing Work Of Association

Assembling in the auditorium of the West Side school, Monday evening, members of West Side P. T. A. thoroughly discussed the advisability of continuing the benevolent work of the association.

One of the highlights of the event was an interesting address by Mrs. Harry Sturdevant, a former student in West Side school, and a county officer of the Parent-Teacher association, who returned recently from the national convention held in Richmond, Va. She gave a most interesting report relative to the confab.

Miss Nannie Mitcheltree, principal, also spoke during the course of the evening, presenting the views of faculty members of the school.

Mrs. Chauncey Davis, the next speaker, gave a report of the various activities of the P. T. A. Mrs. Davis stated that the organization, among other things, has spent about $2,500 for medical and surgical service for children whose parents were unable to provide for them, and about $500 for shoes. She also brought out that the piano was given by the P. T. A.

Mrs. Chester Sweezy gave an enlightening talk on the work of the P. T. A., benefits and stated many facts which were unknown to many of the parents present.

A resolution was passed where the parents would form a parent and citizen organization, if the teachers withdrew. Billie Earle, a talented young pianist of the city, rendered several pleasing selections during the evening.

Mrs. Davis spoke again and moved that the organization disband indefinitely. Mrs. Claude Sisley was nominated as chairman of a parent organization until re-organization.

Mixed Chorus To Meet Wednesday

The Welsh chorus of men and women singers, which tied for first place honors Saturday in the annual eisteddfod at Warren, O., will have a very important meeting Wednesday night at 9 o'clock, after prayer service, in the First Congregational church, according to announcement by the secretary, Miss Louise Davies.

City Baseball League Is Set To Open Season

Eight Teams Hand In Contracts And Franchise Money At 'Y' Meeting

New Castle's newest baseball league the City League is all ready to kickoff on the 1937 season next Sunday afternoon There will be eight teams in the circuit. A meeting was held at the "Y" last night by the managers and officials

All contracts and franchise money has been handed to Secretary-Treasurer Michael "Jake" Babovsky. The only thing that is lacking now is good playing fields The Cedar St. field especially needs quite a lot of work before next Tuesday evening

Lots Of Intersent

The managers were v ry enthusiastic last night about the coming season. There is a general feeling here that the league is going to go over with a "bang." Judging from the interest being shown baseball is fast making a comeback in New Castle

As yet there is no settlement of the umpire situation, and it is possible that the teams will select their own umpires to work the games. There is about one dollar separating the league and the umpire's association.

Sunday the opening day will find the West Pittsburg team at the E. & A. Field opposing the Mahoning A. A. team The Colored Elks will be up on Glasser Field to battle "Lefty" Maslyks, K. Pulaski clubs.

Good Opening Game

Over at the Ryantown field Joe Samuels will unwrap his Ryantown 1937 edition and send them out to battle the South Side Board of Trade team. Up on the Lee avenue field the Lawrence Indies will try to stem the powerful Sixth Ward Firemen team. Mgr. Joe Ziegler will probably have Wylie Shiek in the box, with Paul Coulter back of the plate or it may be the veteran Tommy McCormick.

Hero And Goat

(International News Service)

The Hero — Monte Pearson who pitched a one-hit game as Yankees beat White Sox, 7 to 0.

The Goat — Hal Schumacher of the Giants, who was knocked out of the box Saturday and, having asked for a chance to redeem himself, was whipped by Cubs yesterday, 4 to 3.

Pearson Hurls One-Hit Game

Sets White Sox Down, Yanks Turn On "Heat", Pirates Defeat Boston

INDIANS AND ATHLETICS WIN

By LAWTON CARVER
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, May 11.—Bouncing back from four straight defeats and one of the worst stretches they have experienced in the last couple of years, the Yankees today began to shape up as the world champions.

They played their most spectacular game of the season against the Chicago White Sox yesterday, showing a complete form reversal.

Outstanding features of the contest was the pitching of Monte Pearson, the California right-hander who won 19 games last season when the Yanks breezed to the world title. He turned in a one-hit performance for the best mound achievement of 1937.

The one bingle was made by Larry Rosenthal, White Sox outfielder, in the first inning. He expired in a double play as did one of the two men Pearson Walked, the result being that the Sox attack was virtually stilled while they were losing by 7 to 0.

But besides that impressive pitching feat, the Yankees also put on display some of the hitting for which they are famous, their 10 safeties including two homers by DiMaggio, another by Selkirk and doubles by Selkirk and Dickey.

Indians Defeat Sox.

The victory left the Yanks in a second place tie with the Detroit Tigers, two games behind the Philadelphia Athletics and Cleveland Indians, deadlocked for the leadership.

The Athletics again beat the Tigers, 9 to 5, the latter using four pitchers against Luther Thomas, who went the route to victory, while the Indians clung to a share of the top by outlasting the Boston Red Sox. The count was 6 to 5 in 11 frames and the win was the Indians' fifth straigh.

Julio Bonetti pitched two-hit ball for eight innings for the St. Louis Browns, then missed a shutout in the ninth when he weakened, but still won from the Washington Senators, 6 to 3.

Good Pitching.

One of the day's pitching feats in the National league was contributed by Van Mungo of the Dodgers, who beat the St. Louis Cardinals, 8 to 2. Mungo allowed only four hits and for the first time in 17 starts, the Dodgers played errorless ball.

Another good pitching performance came from Clyde Shoun of the Chicago Cubs, who beat the Giants, 4 to 3, putting down a rally in the ninth with one run over and the tying count on third.

The Pittsburgh Pirates remained in front with a 4 to 1 victory over the Boston Bees, and Philadelphia's Phillies trimmed the Cincinnati Reds, 10 to 3.

Board Of Trade Team Will Play

The South Side Board of Trade baseball team will play the fast Chewton P. N. A. team at the Rosena field Thursday night and Manager Charles Scaglione will present a strong lineup.

It was announced that Frank Isabella and Tony Aceto will do the umpiring. Scaglione will use Cracraft back of the plate, and either 'Fiz' Rodenbaugh, Paul McCullough, Joe Isabella, Budd Todd or Dory Gunnett will do the pitching.

Fruitt will be at short, Perritta at first, Butchelle at second and Gennock at third. Fundoots will be in left field, Marshall in center and Byak in right field. In utility roles will be Steve Vincent, M. Mehalic, Chabak, Ciccone, Nickie Ross and Richards.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

With only four men on each team the Waynesburg College golfers defeated Duquesne 5 to 1 at the Wildwood Country club, Pittsburgh, yesterday. Palely was the lone point-getter for the Dukes, beating Goldberg, 3 and 2. In the other singles matches Brown won from Gable, 5 and 4; Nivert defeated Wasko 3 and 1, and Ingram vanquished Daley 5 and 3. In the foursome Brown and Nivert won from Gable and Wasko, 4 and 3. Goldberg and Ingram were carried to 21 holes before triumphing over Palely and Daley. The defeat was the second for Duquesne in three days. In track at California yesterday Waynesburg beat California Teachers in tennis, 4 to 3. Previously the Teachers had won 21 straight games.

At Washington yesterday despite a hole in one and medal honors for Joe Brickenstein, W. & J.'s freshman golf team dropped its opening match of the season to Kiski, 4 to 2, at the Nemacolin Country club course. Brickenstein registered his ace, the first of the year at the course, on the 165-yard par No. 12 hole. He turned in the best card of the day, a 43 out and a 37 in for an 18-hole total of 80. In the tennis play, W. & J. and Mt. Union College tied 3-3. They divided four singles and two doubles matches.

Middleweight Champion Freddie Steele, the Tacoma boy, who 10 years ago was barred from Seattle rings because he was too slender, will risk his crown tonight at Seattle in a bout with Frankie Battaglia of Minneapolis. They are docketed for 15 rounds.

Ranger, America's cup defender, will be launched in the Kennebec river, Bath, Me., today. The boat cost Owner Harold S. Vanderbilt $300,000 and he hopes it will meet T. O. M. Sopwith's British challenger off Newport, R. I., this summer. Mrs. Vanderbilt will christen the craft, the largest Class J sloop ever built. She will give the name Ranger in honor of the first man-of-war ever to hoist the new national American flag in 1776

Strollers Win Third Straight Game Of Season

Chalking up their third straight win, members of the East Side Strollers mushball team downed the Stroller Midgets Monday evening in an interesting game on the Rose avenue field. Pitching for the winners was Dinks Lane, and Heinie Gunther was in the box for the Midgets. The score of the game Monday was 5-2.

The first game of the season was played with the N. Y. A. team, the Strollers being the victors by a score of 11-5. Dinks Lane, pitching, allowed six hits.

Australians Are Favored In Cup Play

Vincent Richards Former U. S. Tennis Star Says "Aussies" Are Great

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, May 11.—If we want to see the Davis Cup after this year, we'll have to go half-way around the world to do it, Vincent Richards predicted today as the Australians settled down to serious practice at Forest Hills for their North American zone finals against the American team. He meant, at least by inference, that the American team once again would justify its name by failing to get out of America in the international series.

Richards, incidentally, is the paid coach of the Australian team, meaning that he's hired at so much an hour to play pat-ball with the striving young men of the Antipodes. But fortunately he does his thinking for nothing. It has led him to a very logical conclusion.

Australians Good

"The team that wins the zone finals here," said he, "probably will win the cup. That means Australia anyway you look at it. Their second man, no matter who he may be, is stronger than any second man that America and Germany may nominate.

"Meantime, their first two are better than any England, the defending country, can name. In my mind, there's no doubt about it: The next time we go after the Davis Cup, we'll have to send a team halfway around the world for it."

Jack Crawford, he added, was almost certain for one of the singles positions. As for the other, Richards left no doubt as to how he felt about it by declaring that Adrian Quist would be recognized as the greatest amateur in the world within two years.

Budge Can Be Beaten

"Budge, the American, is a good man," he went on. "But he'll never be a top-notch star until he learns to hit a spin ball. That's why Bitsy Grant usually beats him on clay. All told, we haven't the team balance to take the Australians—and certainly not to take the cup."

As a matter of fact, the man was doing it the hard way. He was taking the cup away from us again without even mentioning two of the more conspicuous Australians Vivian McGrath (pronounced McGraw), with his two-handed backhand, and Jack Bromwich (pronounced Bromwich), with his two-handed both hands.

Krivosh Is Named Block W President

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, May 11.—John Krivosh of Sharon, versatile athletic star of Westminster college, was named president of Block W, varsity letter-men's organization, yesterday. Krivosh succeeds Jack Laraway, Erie, backfield letterman for four years.

In addition to three letters in basketball, Krivosh pitches for the championship Theta Upsilon Omega mushball team. In six starts this season, Krivosh has allowed only two runs, with an average of 12 strike-outs a game for the season.

Other officers named by the Block W were Mel Miller, New Brighton, two-letterman in football and basketball, vice-president; Wilburt Needham, North Braddock, cross-country man, secretary-treasurer; John Susko, varsity lineman, Struthers, O., sergeant-at-arms, and Ralph Gilliland, New Wilmington, basketball letterman, chaplain.

William Houck Shoots 198 At Cathedral Range

Only One Other 198 Ever Shot In New Castle, Is Report

William "Bill" Houck almost realized the dream of every rifle expert last night when he shot a string of 198 at the Cathedral range as a part of the shoot held by the New Castle Rifle Club.

Houck was only two points off of a perfect 200, and in the parlance of rifle shooting is excellent. Only one other man Jesse Moore is credited with a 198 and that was two or three years ago. Anyhow Houck is being congratulated on every side by his friends for this great piece of rifle shooting.

High Scores

Dick Pugh almost caught up to Houck's great string, but Dick was four points off a perfect with a 196 string, which is some shooting also, believe you me. Waddington had a 193 which is also good. Had the New Castle club last night been shooting a match the first five high men would have totaled 968 and there are not many of these scores shot by a five-man team.

The scores—Houck 198, Dick Pugh 196, Waddington 193, Cramer 191, Hockenberry 190, Frisbee 187, Ferver 170, Patterson 186, Dean 178, Finley 185, Van Horn 186, Morrow 184, H. Allen 183, Hill 189, E. Crawford 180, McKeown 188, Giddings 187, Black 185.

The New Castle Rifle club will have their annual fish fry on Saturday night on Ellwood City road at 6:30 o'clock.

Church Teams Meet Thursday

Representatives of six New Castle churches will have a meeting at the "Y" Thursday night for the purpose of discussing formation of a Church Softball league. The meeting will start at 7:30 o'clock.

The following churches have shown an interest in the league: First M. E., First Baptists, First U. P., Second U. P., Mahoning M. E., and Third U. P.

P. A. Hayward, chief of the forest products division of the U. S. department of commerce says there is no possibility of a lumber shortage in the United States "for centuries."

A tulle frock for the important "date" is a good choice, tulle being a favorite fabric for the young set for present wear. Delicate pastel and white are the pet colors, and the skirts often are yards and yards around the hem.

FROM ME TO YOU

By MESEEALL.

The most active club, or maybe I should say organization, in the city, held its annual election last night . . . the Junior Chamber of Commerce chose Presley N. Jones as their leader and guiding light . . . he succeeds Herb Smith, the little boy with the A B C's of New Castle . . . that effervescent little secretary, L. J. Lewis, was retained . . . that reminds us that a letter was received from Douglas G. Taylor, Chief Electrician's Mate, U. S. Navy, stationed at Darien, Canal Zone, telling what he thought of Mr. Smith and his A B C's . . . that is quite a distance to be gathering news about New Castle from the ether waves . . . Mr. Douglas is from Butler, so New Castle is almost home to him . . . "Trade in New Castle" the next time you come north, Mr. Douglas.

* * *

I suppose you noticed that the Junior Chamber goes in for very unusual names when picking its officers . . . Smith and Jones are very uncommon names as you can see . . . maybe the names aren't unusual, but the boys are . . . Smith has been very fine, and Jones we know won't let the name of Smith stand first.

* * *

It has been suggested that the yellow lights on the traffic lights be made to last longer . . . could the traffic department advise this column the average length of yellow lights . . . some people claim they are not long enough and they are unable to stop their cars before the red lights overtake them . . . we suggested they have their brakes taken up, but they claim this makes little difference. At this time we would like to say a word about the new parking system that has been aired in council meetings . . . pardon the language, but it is a d—— good idea . . . towns that have this system have been doing a landslide business . . . it will cost the bum that parks his car on the street all day a few cents . . . this space could otherwise be used to park a car that has a driver that has money . . . follow? We are very much in favor of the idea and hope to see it in effect soon.

Market Today Is Irregular

Market Settles Into Narrow Irregular Channel After Re-actionary Opening

By LESLIE GOULD
International News Service Financial Writer

NEW YORK, May 11.—After recovering from a further reaction at the start, the stock market today settled into a narrow irregular trading range with plus and minus signs about equally divided.

Losses ran to two points in initial dealings.

At the end of the first half-hour, though, a brisk rally in the rails toned the market, most of the losses being wiped out and a number of plus signs making an appearance.

Generally higher levels prevailed in amusements and oils, but dealings were dull. Farm implements were mixed. Case slumping more than four points on its first sale of the day. Merchandising shares lost some ground, Gimbel Bros. and Macy dsiplaying a heavy tone.

Bonds were easier, particularly industrials and rails. Governments were mixed. Corn broke five cents a bushel in a weak grain market. Cotton slipped 75 cents a bale.

School Bus Driver Has Notable Record

ELLWOOD CITY, May 11.—22,000 miles; 22,000 miles—almost the distance around the world—of driving a school bus without an accident of any kind. That is the notable record achieved by Norman Leisey of Wurtemburg, who with the closing of the Perry township schools of Wurtemburg on Friday, May 7, concluded seven years of service transporting the school children from their homes to the school.

During these seven years "Norm", as he is affectionately called, has become endeared to all the children through his kindness and patience (if you don't think it requires patience to haul 40 children at one time, just recall the time you took your family and the "kids" next door out for a drive.)

An oft-heard expression, and certainly a tribute, among the residents of this district is: "We never worry about the children when they ride with Norm".

For the past three and one-half years he has hauled 80 children a day, making two trips from Wurtemburg to Ellwood, or a total of 12,800 children each term. While he has encountered many adverse conditions, especially during the very inclement winters of '35 and '36, when the temperature remained below zero for days at a time and the road was covered by ice and snow, he never missed a trip in the seven years.

When the two Wurtemburg bridges were being constructed it was necessary to detour via. Ward's hill, a dangerouse road at any time, and one on which there were no guard rails. For a time County Superintendent J. C. Syling thought it inadvisable and dangerous to make the detour, but finally the job was entrusted to Mr. Leisey, who "kept his slate clean" without any mishaps.

The new Wurtemburg school is nearing completion and will be ready for occupancy next fall and while the pupils will be glad to have a modern new school building, they were all sorry that this term ended their rides in the familiar school bus.

No Statement To Be Made By Duke Of Windsor

By KENNETH T. DOWNS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

MONTS, France, May 11.—The Duke of Windsor, passing the time with Mrs. Wallis Warfield and a group of friends at the Chateau de Cande pending their marriage, will make no public statement tomorrow when his brother, George VI, is crowned king of England, it was reliably reported today.

The Duke, who renounced the throne occupied by his brother in favor of romance, will refrain from any formal statement to prevent the spotlight of international interest from being deviated from the London coronation to events here at Monts, it was believed.

But it is understood the Duke will telephone George privately tonight, offering his best wishes on the eve of the coronation.

According to latest plans, the Duke is not expected to announce his wedding plans until May 17, at which time he is expected to name the exact date and furnish other details of his forthcoming marriage to the former Mrs. Simpson, who has just gone through legal formalities reverting to her maiden name, of Wallis Warfield.

The idea behind this is likewise to permit the coronation week in London to run off without any wedding announcement sharing space in Britain's newspapers with the coronation festivities and ceremonies.
